

WALL STREET POINT GAIN U. S. STEEL DATE IN DAY

Max of Series of Bullish Demonstrations in Special Stocks—High-Priced Issues Up.

FEATURE OF SESSION

Money Rate Is Lowered as Funds Accumulate in Connection With Midmonth Payments.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A series of bullish demonstrations in special stocks, reaching its climax with a point gain of 7 points in U. S. Steel common, featured today's market. A score or so high-priced industrial issues were whirled up 10 points, many of them to new records, but the general market made only moderate response to the demonstration in special issues.

The average closing price of 20
special stocks advanced 7.5 points, industrial issues rose 4.5 points and railroads were up 2 points.

Lowering of the call money rate to 8 to 7 per cent, defeat of the debenture plan by the House Representatives, resumption of imports from Canada and the decline in sterling to around the 100 level, the last two of which had been of easier credit conditions contributed to the more active movement in special stocks.

Reduction of the 5 1/2 per cent redi-scunt rate by the Bank of England was interpreted in some quarters as an indication that New York would be made in the near future. The Federal Reserve Bank also was expected to lower the discount rate. This was interpreted as meaning that no change in the rate would be made from the 5 per cent.

Close of the market today by the Federal Reserve Board as $2-00.00, exactly the same as yesterday. This is the first time the rate has been the same for two consecutive weeks.

Analysis of the report shows loans for own account down $1,000,000, loans for account of out-of-town banks down $2,000,000, and loans for other purposes decreased $2-00.00.

Public utilities, which have attracted a large outside following as a result of recent merger activity, gave the best exhibition of strength. Nearly a dozen issues advanced 10 points, American Electric Power & Light, Commonwealth Power, Engineers & Service and North American Electric.

Auto was again a high mounting 10 points to an advance of 10 points. General Electric advanced 10 points, American & Light 9, and Commonwealth Power, Johns-Manville, Tank Car about 8. Mountain Ward, Westinghouse Electrical and Bethlehem Steel were issues advancing from three points. Among the few points was Union Pacific, which lost a couple of points.

Trade Picks Up Some.
The low level of recent sessions was crossed by the 100 share mark for the first time last Friday.

Prices also made further advance. Wheat advanced 2 1/2 cents, corn 1 1/2 cents, and cotton 1 1/2 cents. Corn advanced 10 cents on reports of unfavorable weather. Cotton advanced 10 cents on a bale in anticipation of a bullish government report tomorrow. Sugar firm.

Further easing in sterling to around the 100 level since last February, and the only development of importance in the foreign exchange market.

HIGHER PAY REFUSED

TWO CITY OFFICIALS

Estimate Board Rejects Increase for Counselor and Smoke Inspector.

Two proposed salary increases were refused by the City Estimate Board today. The Board rejected a proposal to increase the City Counselor's salary from $10,000 to $12,000 a year. The Counselor and members of the Board of Public Service receive $10,000 a year, only the Mayor getting $12,000. City Counselor Muench recently talked of leaving his position, with a view to financial betterment. Mayor Miller voted the increase. Controller Nye and the Board of Aldermen voted against it. The Public Safety Committee of the Board of Aldermen decided against a proposed increase of the Smoke Inspector's salary from $4,000 to $5,000 a year. It voted to allow the inspector, Robert H. Harrell, $30 a month for maintenance of the automobile furnished him by the city. The board also voted to allow the Mayor's chauffeur, who is a private, $10 a month for maintenance of the automobile furnished him by the city. TWO MEN HELD FOR

$50 EXTORTION PLOT

Police Say Both Admit Scheme to Get Money From Head of Tile Firm.

Temporary warrants charging third degree robbery were issued by the Circuit Attorney's office today against James J. Kelly, 37 years old, an accountant of 6219 West Park avenue, and Donald Mulvey, 28, a salesman, 1206 Hereford street, arrested yesterday when police set a trap in the office of Henry L. Polivogt, president of the Horner Mangle and Tile Co., 226 Locust street, who said they had attempted extortion.

Since April a man who gave him the name as Miller had approached Polivogt several times and warned him that certain persons, whom he overheard talking in Tower Grove Park, were considering going to Polivogt's wife and telling her alleged "inside" facts on her husband's trip to New York some time before. "Miller" intimated that he could "fix" the situation if Polivogt would advance him the money.

"Miller" was more insistent than ever when he telephoned last Tuesday. "They're getting tired of waiting," he said. "I've got to have that money." Polivogt arranged a meeting yesterday morning. Asked how much money was needed, "Miller" said "fifty dollars."

He was told to return at 2 o'clock. Polivogt meanwhile called police and arranged for Detective Bean and Cliffe to hide in the office until the man returned. "Miller" came, repeated his demand, accepted 20 marked $5 bills and was arrested by the detectives. Taken to headquarters "Miller" identified himself as Kelly, and admitted the scheme to extort money from Polivogt, police said. He said Mulvey had formulated the plan and was waiting in an automobile at Twenty-second and Olive streets. Mulvey was still waiting when police arrived. He also admitted taking part in the attempt, according to police, and said that he had hoped to induce Polivogt to turn over to him an interest in a beauty parlor he said Polivogt owned.

Kelly is an umpire in the Municipal Baseball League. The derrick, owned by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was being used in setting telephone poles at the same location, when the mechanism of the beam raved the beam down, striking Mr. Eagleton, who was standing below, was killed instantly.

STREET CAVES IN SECOND TIME

Here 20 Feet Wide and 12 Feet Deep on East Side Thoroughfare.

For the second time in as many weeks, the street in front of 914 Piggott avenue, East St. Louis, has caved in, leaving a large hole about 20 feet in diameter and 12 feet deep. Other cave-ins along the route of a 36-inch sewer line have occurred recently due to heavy rains and high water. The use of pumps to draw water from the sewer, necessitated by the rise in river level, has loosened dirt at the sewer joints.

INVENTOR ASSERTS

WOMAN CAUSED

FIRM'S DOWNFALL

Mrs. Evelyn Gardner, Who Rose From $10 to $100 a Week, Blocked Deals, Plaintiff Declares.

The rise of Mrs. Evelyn Gardner from the position of $10 a week stenographer to treasurer, at a salary of $200 a year, of the Davis Boring Tool Co., which went into receivership in 1917, was disclosed in depositions taken in a suit filed against her and others by Emory E. Davis, former president of the tool firm. Davis said she charged false arrest and assault in connection with his election from Mrs. Davis' present office in the Arcade Building.

Neither is now connected with the company, which is now controlled by other interests. Mrs. Gardner, 36 years old and a divorcee, is a business consultant, and Davis, 55 and married, has no business connections. He lives at 4151 Kosuth avenue.

At the time it went into receivership the company was capitalized for $1,350,000. It enjoyed a tremendous growth during the war, before which it was a $100,000 corporation. Davis was the inventor of the devices made and marketed by his firm.

Sues for $50,000. Davis' suit names the Isaac T. Cook Co., operators of the Arcade Building, as co-defendants and asks for $50,000 damages. Davis alleged that he had called to discuss business matters May 29 and that he was escorted by a watchman at Mrs. Davis' instance. The testimony at the deposition hearing, however, largely concerned the association of the two during and after the rise of Mrs. Gardner to the rank of an officer of the firm.

Mrs. Gardner was first employed in 1915, but the friendship with Davis did not develop until 1921 or 1922, she testified. Davis testified to taking numerous trips out of the city with Mrs. Gardner and alleged that she became so well versed in the affairs of the company that she was able to block several deals, ultimately causing the company's downfall, he said.

"She knew more about the financial affairs of the company and the mail order end of the business than even the board of directors," he testified.

Had Plenty of Authority. "Did Mrs. Gardner have much authority in your company?" he was asked. "She certainly did," he replied. "Anything she approved, the board and myself would sanction without question."

"How about this notice to the stockholders that you have complained about and which you say you did not send out?" "That wrecked our company," said Davis. "I looked at it only casually. I did not know what was on it when it was sent out by Mrs. Gardner."

Relating his experiences in attempting to refinance his company in 1927, Davis said that he had arranged with Detroit interests to refinance the firm on a $1,000,000 basis, but certain interests insisted that Mrs. Gardner be dropped from the firm. It was a question of whether to drop Mrs. Gardner or give up the refinancing proposition.

"Did the deaf go through?" he was asked. "No, it did not." "And you did not discharge Mrs. Gardner?" "No, sir," Davis answered. "Only Loss by Stockholders. Davis explained that his creditors were paid 100 cents on the dollar and that the only loss was to stockholders, who suffered badly."

Mrs. Gardner asserted that she earned twice the salary she was paid, averring that she was a "flunkie" around the office. She once tried to resign, she testified, but was not permitted to do so.

He said that she had tried several times to "break off" with Davis but that she was unable to do so, as he continued to "pester her."

She denied that the final break between them was due to her friendship with other men, who were named in the testimony. Davis stated that his home is now broken up and that his wife has decided to leave him. She has demanded a division of their property, he said.

Political opponents of Mayor Miller recall that the Mayor, during the recent campaign, was reported to have threatened, if re-elected, to oust all adherents of the "flunkie" system. The latter supported former Mayor Henry W. Kiel in the primary, but Peter Schmoll was listed as a Miller man in the Twelfth Ward organization. The ousted brother, who had been employed as a purchasing agent, could not be reached today.

SENATE REFUSES TO CONSIDER

SUSPENDING NEW ALIEN LAW

Vote Against Resolution to Carry Out Hoover's Suggestion Is Third Rebuff.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Senate today refused to take up for consideration the resolution to carry out President Hoover's recommendation for suspension of the national origins immigration quota basis, which goes into effect July 1.

By a vote of 37 to 43, the motion of Senator Nye (Rep., North Dakota), to discharge the Immigration Committee from further study of his resolution for repeal of the provision and thus put the resolution before the Senate was rejected. The committee has voted to postpone indefinitely consideration of the Nye repeal resolution.

Today's vote was thought to end for this session the drive for repeal of the national origins quota basis. The repeal movement was started upon the recommendation of President Hoover in his message to Congress, and for a third time in this extra session the Senate has voted against him.

Party lines were obliterated in the immigration vote. Senator Rod (Rep., Pennsylvania), led those who opposed the Hoover proposal for suspension of the new immigration basis.

'CHAPPIE' MORAN FRAUD CASE SUSPENDED; HIS ALLY IN CELL Charges Took Week, U. S. Court Is Told; Permission to Reimburse.

An indictment charging conspiracy to use the mails in a scheme to defraud, voted in 1925 against Charles (Chap) Moran, notorious confidence man, was filed away from Federal Court today with leave to reinstate on recommendation of Assistant United States District Attorney Statler.

Statler told the recommendation was weak as to Moran and that since Tony Serpa, confederate of Moran and jointly indicted with him, had recently been sentenced to life imprisonment in Missouri for bank robbery in which an officer was killed, it would be inadvisable to attempt to make a case against Moran here.

Serpa and several of their known confederates were indicted here on complaint that they had swindled Mayor William G. Frank of Okawville, Ill., and L. B. Trotter, a farmer near Jacksonville, Ill., out of large sums of money on a fake corporation stock transaction. Moran was not identified as one of the swindlers.

Lost Job by Conservatism, Seminary Ex-Teacher Says

The Rev. Manfred Manrodt Charges Eden School Is Becoming Modernistic—Dean Denies Allegation.

Dismissal of the Rev. Manfred Manrodt from the faculty of Eden Evangelical Theological Seminary, at Webster Groves, has precipitated a controversy between the professor and seminary authorities which will be considered Monday at a special meeting of the board of directors.

Prof. Manrodt asserts that refusal to re-engage him, decided on at a meeting of the directors May 24, is due primarily to his "conservative" theological viewpoint, as opposed to "modernistic" tendencies which he asserts are promulgated by Dean H. K. Nelson and other faculty members.

Dr. Samuel Press, president of the seminary, however, denies that theological opinions enter into the case. He says that the dismissal of the professor was based solely upon economic considerations.

Says Seniority Was Basis. "It was a question of choosing between two men available for one kind of work," he said, "and I, B. Nelson, who has been here six years longer than Prof. Manrodt, was naturally selected for the position. It was simply a question of seniority."

Prof. Manrodt questions the validity of the seniority claim and will present his views at the meeting of the directorate Monday. Pending institution consisted of obtaining a list of questions and answers from Gordon which were repeated in substance at a subsequent examination by the City Board.

Five witnesses, among them Gordon's former students, have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury today. Both Gordon and Reno, who occupy the same room at the City Hall, deny any impropriety. Both men have submitted resignations to Commissioner of Public Safety Steininger, but no action has been taken on them.

Child Unhurt in Two-Story Fall. George Sutter, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sutter, was unhurt when a fall from a second-story window of his home at 1419 (rear) Monroe street, into a paved alley this morning was broken by a small heap of refuse.

Those who identified Miss Wilson and Mrs. Dandridge yesterday are: Sam Radloff, proprietor of a clothing store, 223 North Eleventh street, who said Miss Wilson, accompanied by a man, gave him a check for $25 for a $7 purchase, receiving $18 in change; Shaw Harber, proprietor of a dry goods store at 172 South Broadway, who identified Miss Wilson as the woman who tendered a payroll check for $27.48 for a small purchase and received change; Adolph Gelfer, dry goods store owner at 129 Biddle street, who said Mrs. Dandridge gave him a check for $24 on a small purchase, and Mrs. Anna Kansteiner, proprietor of a dry goods store at 2708 North Ninth street, who said she cashed a check for $24 for Mrs. Dandridge. All the checks were returned by the bank.

They were drawn on the accounts of the Atlanta Lumber Co. and the Missouri Steel & Wire Co.

CHECK FORGERIES

Mrs. Dorothy Dandridge and Ruth Wilson Accused of Passing $100 in Spurious Drafts in Stores.

Charged with passing forged checks, Mrs. Dorothy Dandridge, 22 years old, and Miss Ruth Wilson, 17, were arrested yesterday at 1525 Benton street.

They were identified by four storekeepers as the two who had tendered worthless payroll checks in payment for goods and received change in return. They were usually accompanied by a child or a man to avert suspicion, according to the storekeepers. The man is being sought.

Mrs. Dandridge's husband, Harry Dandridge, and Miss Wilson's brother, James, are in jail at Farmington, Mo., awaiting trial on similar charges. They were arrested here Feb. 26 and turned over to the St. Francois County authorities.

Wilson and the Dandridges were arrested in July of last year suspected of taking part in the operations of forgers who obtained about $20,000 by passing forged payroll checks. The charges were dropped in Circuit Court when prosecuting witnesses failed to appear.

Those who identified Miss Wilson and Mrs. Dandridge yesterday are: Sam Radloff, proprietor of a clothing store, 223 North Eleventh street, who said Miss Wilson, accompanied by a man, gave him a check for $25 for a $7 purchase, receiving $18 in change; Shaw Harber, proprietor of a dry goods store at 172 South Broadway, who identified Miss Wilson as the woman who tendered a payroll check for $27.48 for a small purchase and received change; Adolph Gelfer, dry goods store owner at 129 Biddle street, who said Mrs. Dandridge gave him a check for $24 on a small purchase, and Mrs. Anna Kansteiner, proprietor of a dry goods store at 2708 North Ninth street, who said she cashed a check for $24 for Mrs. Dandridge. All the checks were returned by the bank.

ried, but was not permitted to do so. He said that she had tried several times to "break off" with Davis but that she was unable to do so, as he continued to "pester her."

She denied that the final break between them was due to her friendship with other men, who were named in the testimony. Davis stated that his home is now broken up and that his wife has decided to leave him. She has demanded a division of their property, he said.

Political opponents of Mayor Miller recall that the Mayor, during the recent campaign, was reported to have threatened, if re-elected, to oust all adherents of the "flunkie" system. The latter supported former Mayor Henry W. Kiel in the primary, but Peter Schmoll was listed as a Miller man in the Twelfth Ward organization. The ousted brother, who had been employed as a purchasing agent, could not be reached today.

Mr. Schaperkott died March 14, leaving a will in which he bequeathed $10,000 to various Evangelical Lutheran organizations and placed the residue in trust with the Northwestern Trust Co., of St. Louis, to pay one-fourth of the income to go to four sisters, Mrs. Minnie Eubanks, Mrs. Amanda Eble and Misses Emma and Bertha Schaperkott. $342 TAKEN IN FIVE DRUG STORE HOLDUPS

Police Think Some of These Robberies Were Committed by Same Pair.

Robbers obtained $342.50 last night in holding up five drug stores. Police believe some of the holdups were committed by the same men.

Holding masks on their faces two armed men took $70 from a drug store at 1244 Holladaymont avenue at 10 p. m., holding up Maurice Benson, proprietor, two customers and two clerks.

The Penn Drug Co., 800 Hamilton avenue, was held up 10 minutes later by two men answering the same description. The manager, George McVicker, 8744 Clemens avenue, was robbed of $30.

After two men had taken $20 from a drug store at 4272W Finney avenue at 11:20 p. m., the manager, Edward Gruman, fired five shots at the automobile in which they escaped.

A lone robber held up Edgar A. Gengler, manager of a drug store at 725 South Fourth street, at 10 p. m., taking $50.

Warning Walter Meister that they had "been drinking just bers took $122.50 from a drug store at 1101 Salsbury street at 10:40 p. m., while two customers looked on.

Two men in an automobile took $125 from Richard Dover, manager of a filling station at 494 Skinker road after they had ordered gasoline at 10:10 p. m.

Edward J. Powers Jr., appeared at the Page Boulevard Police Station at 2 a. m. and reported that two men had robbed him and forced him to drive about the city after accosting him as he was putting his machine in a garage at the rear of his home, 5241 Bartmore avenue. They left him in Forest Park after taking his automobile. This was recovered at Academy avenue and Page boulevard.

Miss Eleanor Brittneyer, 15 years old, 2622 North Twelfth street, reported to police that a paper bag in which she carried groceries and a small amount of change was taken from her by a man as she walked west on Montgomery street, between Blair avenue and Fourteenth street, yesterday afternoon.

Two men who posed as police officers as a subterfuge to inspect automobiles at a garage operated in connection with the Versailles Apartments, 709 Skinker road, held revolvers on two Negro employees at 10:50 p. m. and drove away in an automobile owned by William Schmuckelbauer.

Two men of similar description held up Columbus Derrington, attendant at the garage of the Wilshire Apartments, 725 Skinker road, at 1 a. m., and drove away in the automobile of Alfred M. Baker Jr.

Self-Defense Probable Plea of Texas Lawyer Who Killed Youth After Secret Marriage.

By the Associated Press.
AMARILLO, Tex., June 13.—contending that he could not obtain a fair trial here, R. H. Hamilton, Amarillo attorney charged with killing his son-in-law, Tom Walton Jr., today applied for a change of venue. Witnesses were called in support of the motion.

Hamilton, a former commissioner of the Texas Supreme Court, shot and killed Walton recently upon learning that the youth had secretly wed his daughter, Theresa, last February, while both were attending the University of Texas.

Defense attorneys indicated Hamilton would plead self-defense and attempt to show he had been threatened by Walton because he opposed the marriage.

A Great Liner . . . The Aquitania

A Ship with a Personality

"If you possibly can, cross in the Aquitania," people say. And they are not thinking only of her two flower-filled garden-lounges overhanging the sea; or the deft, cheerful service of her perfectly trained English staff; or the fact that the Aquitania's famous à la carte service is available without any extra charge.

They are thinking rather of the special charm that differentiates the Aquitania, that something which wins the loyal devotion of so many people and which is difficult to define. Something that gives vitality to her days and animation to her evenings . . . making the six-day voyage from New York to Cherbourg or Southampton the "pleasantest distance" between two worlds.

Bucklin, June 13.—Zeitung Am-already have denied him the inwhich he enjoyed for 13 years

NORMAN

SAYS PRECEDENT EXISTS FOR ENDING RADIO MONOPOLY

Counsel for Independent Group Asserts Verdict on Oil-Cracking Patent Pool Covers Ground.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
NEW YORK, June 13.—The Federal Court decision in Chicago, holding that 52 oil companies had violated the Federal antitrust laws
by pooling oil-cracking patents furnishes "a perfect precedent" for Government action against the Radio Corporation of America and affiliated companies, it was declared here today by Oswald R. Schutte, representing the organized "independents" of the radio industry.

He issued a statement calling upon the Department of Justice to proceed at once against the so-called "Radio Trust."

Referring to license agreements under which patents owned by the General Electric Co. and the United Fruit Co. were pooled for use by the Radio Corporation, Schutte
said:

"These agreements obviously constitute more direct and specific violations of the antimonopoly statutes than did the agreements between the 52 oil companies which attempted to monopolize the oil-cracking process. The oil agreements did not attempt to fix prices, divide the field of operation or control future invention. The radio agreements do all these things."

Demands Dissolution of Pool
"Only because of the $5,000,000 agreement which states which share back of these agreements have the companies been able to secure immunity from prosecution. The Chicago decision leaves no excuse for further immunity. The independent radio industry demands, and will continue to demand, the dissolution of these illegal agreements and the prosecution of the companies which have used them to destroy competitors."

Schutte previously had told, in his testimony before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, how the companies controlling the Radio Corporation pooled their patents under its name, and how the Radio Corporation and the British Marconi Co. then proceeded to exchange patents and divide the world between themselves into fields of communication. The British concern operates under a government-controlled monopoly.

The Radio Corporation reserved for itself the United States and the remainder of the Western Hemisphere, except British possessions.
Canada was apportioned to the Canadian Marconi Co., a substitute of the British, but with the proviso that the present company use its influence to induce the Canadian company to conclude exclusive agreements with the Radio Corporation. Other British possessions in the Western Hemisphere were allotted jointly to the British company and the Radio Corporation.

Territory of British Firm.
For its own field of operation,
the British company reserved the remainder of the British Empire.
The Radio Corporation also recognized the British company's claim to a monopoly in China, but obtained the right to make certain communications with the British Chinese company.

In these respective major spheres, the British company and the Radio Corporation agreed to exchange patents.

The agreement defined "No Man's Land" to consist of France, Germany, Holland, Spain, Italy,
Russia, Norway, Japan, Austria and Poland. In these countries the British and American companies agreed to compete with each other, but without the previlege of using each other's patents.
All the rest of the world was defined as "neutral territory," but a provision was made for transferring parts of it into the sphere defined as "No Man's Land" when the necessity might arise.

British Get Use of Patent.
In this connection, as Schutte pointed out, it is interesting to examine the claim of the Radio Corporation that one of the principal reasons for organizing that company in 1919 was to prevent the Alexander Graham Bell, a valuable American invention, from falling to the hands of the British Marconi Co. As a matter of fact, under the agreements subsequently concluded, the British company was not only permitted to use the invention, but was required to make it standard transmitting equipment for distances exceeding 2000 miles.

of the naval station here.
The Guam militia and school children took part in the greatest ovation ever given a departing Governor. The children lined both sides of the road from Agaña to Pitt throwing flowers, waving flags and cheering as the Governor and Mrs. Shapley left for the pier. Both were deeply affected by the farewell. Shapley had been Governor of Guam since April 8, 1926.

MRS. THAW LEFT MUCH OF ESTATE TO CHARITY
 Four Children Get Four-Fifths of What Remains When These Are Paid.

By the Associated Press.
 PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 12.—The will of Mrs. Mary Conley Thaw, 86-year-old philanthropist, disposing of her estate, was filed for probate late today. Mrs. Thaw died last week. A large part of the estate, the value of which is not given, was bequeathed to charities and to church organizations of the Presbyterian Church of the United States.
 Filing out that her two sons and two daughters, Harry K.
 Thaw, Josiah C. Thaw, Mrs. Alice Thaw Whitney and Countess Margaret Carnegie de Pirigny, had received large legacies from their father, Mrs. Thaw said she expected to leave "as my residuary estate, little more than enough to provide for payment of my debts and such legacies, bequests and de-visees as are designated." She willed that of the residue, the sons and daughters should receive four-fifths, the other one-fifth to go to church organizations and schools.
 Among the beneficiaries were relatives, friends, employees and others. Debts owed her by relatives and others were canceled or reduced one-half, and all debts in excess of $50,000, due from Harry
 K. Thaw, were canceled.
 Beneficiaries included the Board of Foreign Missions, Board of Home Missions, Board of Missions for Freedmen, Board of Ministerial Relief of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Omaha, Neb.; American Bible Society; Hastings College, Nebraska;

BOY, BORN BLIND, ABLE TO SEE AFTER OPERATION ON HIS EYES

"Like a New Man," Says Clifford Dillon, 16; Thrilled by Sight of Girl.
 Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 12.— Clifford Dillon, 16 years old, who was born blind, today began to find his own way, for Tuesday he became able to see following an operation.
 The youth came here a few weeks ago from Washington, Va., and was operated upon at the Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. Clifford was too bewildered to express his own reactions.
 "It's like being born all over again," he said. "Like a new world."
 Dillon was born with cataracts on both eyes. Under a teacher, he developed a literary taste, but became resigned to a life of blindness and schooled himself with that view. He also developed a liking for sports. After the operation he got his greatest thrill from the sight of a bob-haired girl.

MORE DEATHS, FEWER BIRTHS RECORDED IN ST. LOUIS

In Year Ended April 1, 12,108
 Died and 14,865 Were Born, Dr.
 Starkloff Reports.

An increase in the death rate and a decrease in the birth rate for St. Louis during the fiscal year which ended April 1 are shown in the annual report of Health Commissioner Starkloff, made public today.

There were 12,108 deaths during the year as against 16,858 the previous year, a rate of 14.2 per 1,000 population against 12.9. Births numbered 14,865 or 17.5 per 1,000 population in 1928, as against 15, 549 in 1927.

In spite of the increased death rate, Dr. Starkloff described health conditions in St. Louis as "satisfactory," pointing out that the number of influenza deaths here was small, whereas the disease reached epidemic proportions in other cities. The main death increase was due to pneumonia, heart disease and meningitis, he said.

Hoover Submits Estimate of $25,000 for Expenses of Delegation to September.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Dutch Government has invited the United States to send representatives to a meeting of the International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communications, to be held at The Hague Sept. 19.

President Hoover, already has submitted to Congress a supplementary estimate of $25,000 for expenses of participation of the United States in the committee meetings. It was announced at the State Department that if favorable action is taken in Congress on the request for the appropriation, a delegation composed of Government experts would be sent. Private enterprises and American companies or radio associations also were invited to send representatives.

CALLS TARIFF BILL 'LAST WORD IN ECONOMIC CHAOS'

People's Lobby Declares Bounty to Protected Industries Would Be Cheaper for American Public.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, June 12.—Continuing its criticism of the pending Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, the People's Lobby, of which Prof. John Dewey of Columbia University is president, yesterday characterized the measure as "The last word in economic chaos and a confession of national incompetency and inefficiency."
A bounty dole to best growers, wool growers and manufacturers, the lobby said in a statement, "would be far better as well as cheaper for the American people than the duties cleverly concealed in woe words. The dole could be paid by those best able to pay through surtaxes."

"Less than two-fifths of those engaged in gainful occupations could possibly be benefited by a protective tariff," the statement continued. "And it is highly doubtful whether their gain is not more apparent than real."
Benefits for 18,000,000.
"In 1929 41,614,000 persons were in gainful occupations, of whom 19,953,000 were in agriculture, forestry and animal husbandry, 1,990,000 in manufacturing (1919), and 1,650,000 in extraction of minerals."

"Of those engaged in agriculture and the like about 2,225,000 were raising cotton as their chief crop, and out of the protection sale. Of those in extractive industries nearly 754,000 were mining coal in which low wages are primarily due to chaotic over-development, so no tariff could help them."
"At the outside, therefore, granting that all manufacturing could be benefited by a tariff, only about 18,000,000 out of 41,614,000 people gainfully employed could have derived any benefit from a protective tariff."

CUMBERLAND FALLS POWER PLAN BEFORE COMMISSION

Federal Board to Decide Tomorrow
if It Has Jurisdiction at Hearing.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Federal Power Commission at a meeting tomorrow will determine whether it has jurisdiction over the establishment of a hydro-electric development at Cumberland Falls, Ky.

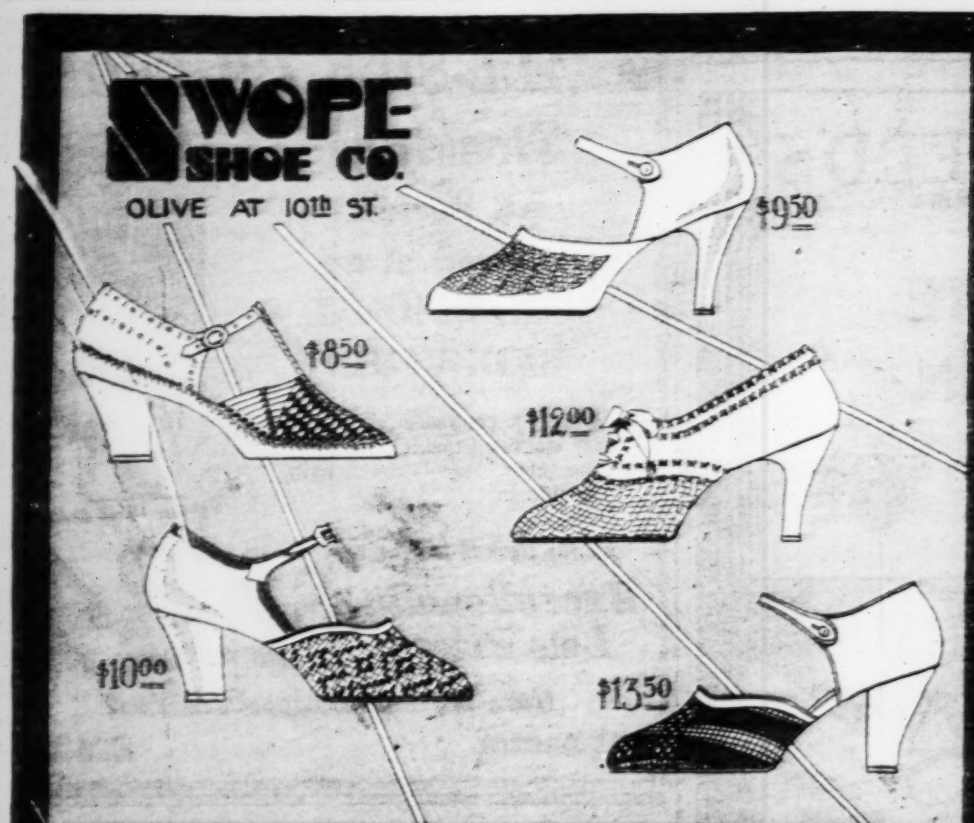

Although the commission has held extensive hearings on the project and heard protests which were brought against it on the contention that the development would ruin the scenic beauties of the region, it has now decided that it should determine whether a power dam at the falls would affect navigable waters of the river below and thus come under the jurisdiction of the commission. The commission is to pass upon a declaration of intention to build the dam which was filed in 1922 and rejected at that time because it covered two other projects, one on a navigable section of the Cumberland River. Since that time the commission has determined that the law requires it to establish jurisdiction over each site on which a power development is planned.

INTIMIDATION OF VOTERS BY PRIEST CHARGED IN BRITAIN

Labor Candidate, Defeated, Will Petition Against Return of Catholic Opponent

LIVERPOOL, June 12.—Charging intimidation of voters by a priest, W. A. Robinson, Labor candidate, defeated by Sir James Reynolds, Conservative, in the Exchange Division on May 29, has decided to petition against the return of Sir James, who was elected by 263 votes.

Just before the election there was considerable discussion among Roman Catholics on the question of the disabilities attending Roman Catholic schools. At a meeting in London, Cardinal Francis Bourne outlined these disabilities and explained a questionnaire had been sent to the political parties, only one of which (the Conservative) had given a satisfactory reply. The Cardinal added it therefore behooved Catholics to consider where their interests lay.
Sir James Reynolds is a Roman Catholic.

J.D. CARSON CO.
S. E. Cor. Eighth and Franklin Ave.FIVE HURT WHEN PLANE
PLUNGES INTO HUDSONFalls Close to Racing Crews Practicing Near Poughkeepsie.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 12.—The pilot and four passengers were injured last evening when a Fairchild cabin monoplane flying to New York from Albany fell from a 100-foot altitude and plunged into the Hudson River near Poughkeepsie.

The injured are James M. Blackwell, lawyer; Harold Gibbs, John Hess and Arthur Syran, partner of Blackwell of New York and Clifford McMullin, pilot, of Minneola, La. L. I.

All suffered severe head injuries and possible internal injuries, and have been placed in hospitals.

Hess, the only one able to discuss the accident, said the plane, equipped with pontoons, was about 100 feet above the river when it suddenly dived into the water for quite a depth but rose again.

The plane struck the middle of the river close to the racing shells in which crews from the United States Naval Academy, the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia University were practicing.

Lieutenant-Commander O. O. Kessing, coach of the Navy crew, and Charles Walsh, chief of its plane crew, went to the rescue and stood by until the plane appeared on the surface. Her pontoons kept afloat and in a few minutes Commander Kessing and Walsh got the cabin doors open and began the work of rescuing the injured. They were taken ashore in canoes and other craft that happened to be on the river.

All except Hess were unconscious at a late hour last night.

LIBERAL SAYS LLOYD GEORGE IS LIABLY TO HIS PARTYVivian Phillips Avers Character Not Cleverness Is Needed for Leadership.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 12.—A lively attack on former Premier David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, was made yesterday in a letter to the Times by Vivian Phillips, former chief whip of the Liberal party.

Phillips said many Liberal candidates with whom he has talked since the general election were of the opinion Lloyd George was not an asset but a positive liability to the Liberty party.

"Only courage will save the party now," he wrote. "Courage to turn back on the shams and pretences of the past two years and make a new beginning under new leadership which will inspire public confidence and trust."

"If it will break loose from the degrading bondage of the party funds, if it will follow character rather than cleverness, if it will set honor and principle once again in the place which they held in the days of its former greatness, it may yet be preserved to wield its old moral authority in the state and be an instrument of beneficent service to this nation and the world."

STATE OFFICIAL OF IDAHO AND TWO OTHERS KIDNAPED

Lieutenant-Governor Kinne Taken Into Woods by Four and Tied to Tree With His Rescuers.

By the Associated Press.
OROFINO, Idaho, June 12.—Several thousand men and boys searched this mountainous country today for the four men who yesterday abducted W. B. Kinne, Lieutenant-Governor of Idaho, and two men who attempted to rescue him. Kinne escaped uninjured after he had been tied to a tree.

W. L. Tribbey, an officer of an Idaho loan association, and Paul Kille, a lumber worker, attempted to rescue Kinne when the bandits halted his automobile. Kille was shot in the leg and clubbed on the head and Tribbey was badly beaten. Robbery and the theft of Kinne's automobile apparently were the motives for the abduction.

Kinne, traveling from Lewiston to his home here, was attacked shortly after leaving Lewiston. The kidnapers boarded his car and ordered him to sit in the rear seat. Near Orofino, Kinne said, a front tire blew out and the automobile went into a ditch, bottomside up, but no one was hurt.

When Tribbey and Kille drove up to assist the wreck victims they were halted with drawn pistols. During the struggle Kille was shot and beaten into unconsciousness with a revolver. The robbers then took Tribbey's car, put the three men in it and drove into the mountains.

After several hours they stopped near Clear, nine miles southeast of here, tied the men to trees, left one of their number to guard them, and drove away. Four hours later the three other kidnapers returned, got their companion and drove away again. Kinne and his companions escaped shortly afterwards. Kille, seriously hurt, was taken to a hospital here.

Kinne said the kidnapers intimidated that they needed an automobile to rob a store at Pierce, a lumber town in this region. The robbers took $200 from Tribbey and $14 from the Lieutenant-Governor.

The search for the kidnapers was carried on by three main forces, headed by Deputy Sheriffs of Lewis, Clearwater and Nez Perce counties, and around this group were residents of every town, farmers and others organized by volunteer leaders. Every highway and road in a radius of 200 miles was watched and groups of men with bloodhounds went deep into the heavily timbered and mountainous Clearwater River country on the theory that the men may have abandoned the automobile and taken to the mountains.

MISSSES GRADUATION BY ONE HOUR'S CREDIT, STUDENT DIES

Thelma Brewerton Had Worked as Waitress and Check Girl to Get Degree.

CHICAGO, June 12.—A university education beckoned to Thelma Brewerton, Clarence, Mo., girl four years ago. There was not enough money to send her to the University of Chicago, but she was willing to earn her degree. For four years she was a waitress, a checkroom girl, a rooming housekeeper, a candy clerk, earning her way through school.

Last Friday there came a letter from the university. She lacked one hour's credit, it said. She could not graduate.

Tuesday was convocation day—day of days for her classmates. Day of disappointment for Thelma. Her heart was weak and doctors had warned her against over exertion, but she felt that on this day she must get away, to be alone.

She went to the Indiana and dunes. Disregarding caution, she tramped the steep hills, and raced across the sands. She came back to Chicago weak and sick, yesterday she died from heart disease.

He will be disciplined at home.

PLUMBERS' LABORERS END SIX WEEKS' STRIKE

Wage Increased to $7.75 a Day—to Get $8 After Aug. 1.

Four hundred plumbers' laborers who have been on strike for more pay since May 1, returned to work today at a wage of $7.75 a day, an increase of 25 cents. On Aug. 1 a scale of $8 a day will become effective. The increase was granted by the Master Plumbers' Association after conferences with union leaders.

Union building laborers, who also struck May 1, settled their difference with employers last Saturday. The laborers, who demanded 90 cents an hour in place of a varying scale, starting at 75 cents, will receive a flat wage of 87½ cents beginning Aug. 1. Union iron workers, who are striking for a $2-a-day increase, expect to reach an agreement with employers this week. It is announced. These strikes have seriously interrupted major building projects here.

MATLOCK INSURANCE CLAIMS TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

"Good Time Charley," Widow, Who Killed Him, Contradicted in Court by Her Rival.

Claims of persons seeking $10,000 insurance carried with the Bankers' Life Co. on the life of "Good Time Charley" Matlock, automobile salesman slain by his wife in the apartment of another woman and Nov. 6, were taken under advisement today by Circuit Judge Landwehr. The insurance company had deposited the money with the court.

The widow, Mrs. Helen Matlock, who was acquitted on a self-defense plea, was named beneficiary in the policy taken out April 3, 1928, but Charles Matlock Jr., 19-year-old son by a former marriage, also claimed the money on the ground that his stepmother, by killing her husband, was legally barred from profiting by his death. Creditors also were interested in the case, their attorneys maintaining that the proceeds of the policy should go to the estate, against which they could levy, if the widow were not entitled to receive it. Ross Johnson, night club entertainer, in whose apartment Matlock was shot to death, testified to the details of the killing as a witness for the boy. Weeping, at times hysterically, Mrs. Matlock, in reply to questions, repeated her story. Miss Johnson raised her voice loudly to take issue with Mrs. Matlock on her statement as to Matlock's association with the entertainer.

YOUTH KNOCKED DOWN BY RIVAL, SKULL FRACTURED

Burrell Clay Was Struck by Alva Aldridge Who Resented Former's Attention to Young Woman.

Burrell Clay, 20 years old, a clerk of 2805 St. Vincent street, suffered a fractured skull at 8:30 p. m. yesterday when knocked to the pavement by a youth who resented Clay's attentions to Miss Mand Veanes, 1212 Dolman street. Clay and Miss Veanes were walking past 2100 Park avenue with another male when Alva Aldridge, 29, 1622 A Lafayette avenue, confronted Clay with the demand, "What are you doing with my girl?"

On being struck, Clay's head hit the sidewalk. He was taken to City Hospital.

WOMAN DIES; DOCTOR ACCUSED

Inquest Jury Holds Chicagoan, Twice Convicted in Another Case, By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Dr. Amante Ronzetti, at liberty on bond pending an appeal from a former sentence for murder, was held to a grand jury yesterday by a coroner's jury on a charge of murder by an illegal operation. The inquest was into the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Palermo, who died May 23, two days after an operation had been performed on her by Ronzetti.

Ronzetti was once sentenced to die in the electric chair for the murder of Miss Loretta Enders, unmarried mother. Granted a new trial by the State Supreme Court, he was again found guilty and sentenced to prison.

Elevator Operator Injured. Simon Jablonsky, 18 years old, of 4611 Newberry terrace, suffered a fractured skull last night when his head struck a beam while he was operating a freight elevator at the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. He was taken to City Hospital.

OF TAXIS MADE BY FORD PLANNED IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, June 12.—The vast production methods of the Ford Motor Co. are behind a move to place small, cheap, 4-passenger taxis on the streets of New York, Police Commissioner Whalen announced yesterday. He said it was his understanding that Ford planned to do not plan to operate the taxis, but hoped to have them approved by the police in order to permit their sale to taxicab drivers in New York.

The Police Commissioner said he did not know whether the proposed Ford cabs would seek to operate at cut rates and announced he had called a public hearing for next Tuesday morning to enable Ford representatives, representatives of companies now operating and those of proposed cut rate cab companies to express opinions on the situation.

Since Ford representatives submitted one of the cabs for police approval and the White Horse Taxi Service Co. announced plans to begin a cut rate cab company, police have made a survey of the taxi cab situation to determine whether there is room on the streets for more cabs.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 12.—Two officers who killed a man during a prohibition raid were held to have been rightfully convicted when they appeared before Judge Charles J. Dawson in Federal Court here yesterday and asked for a new trial. Each had been convicted and sentenced to two years imprisonment.

The officers, Roy Miller, Federal prohibition agent, and Clarence Gossett, Deputy Sheriff, both of Hopkinsville, Ky., were said to be the first convicted of killing a citizen in such a case transferred from a State to a United States court.

District Attorney Thomas J. Sparks appeared as counsel for the defendants, who shot Frank Sears in a raid on his still in 1932. He asked for a new trial on grounds that jurors at the trial, in Paducah, Ky., in April of this year, had been allowed to read newspaper accounts of the trial before they had reached a verdict.

He also said new evidence had been discovered to the effect that Sears was guineafowl. One of the points made by the prosecution, which was conducted by Prosecuting Attorney John L. Gray, was that the victim was left-handed. The officers said they shot because Sears had a pistol in his right hand.

Judge Dawson replied he believed the newspaper accounts of the trial had been impartial, and that the jurors hesitated only because they disliked to imprison men of the defendants' good reputation for killing of "the sort of man Sears appears to have been."

In overruling the motion the judge said Sears was not under arrest when he was shot; that he was not charged with a felony, and that he was shot nine times in the back according to the evidence. He added that he could not see how a jury could have failed to convict the two.

Sparks announced he would take an appeal, and the officers were allowed to remain at liberty on bond pending the outcome.

RADIO PERMITS GRANTED FOR COMMUNICATION WITH PLANES

Pan-American Airways, Inc., Among Companies to Which Frequencies Are Assigned.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Radio Commission yesterday assigned to Pan-American Airways, Inc., seven frequencies for short-wave communication with airplanes and granted the company permission to construct ground stations at its airports at Miami, Fla., and Brownsville, Tex.

The commission at the same time granted the company 12 new licenses for airplanes to use these frequencies and renewed licenses for five others.

The commission also assigned two frequencies to the Boeing Air Transport, Inc., at Sacramento, Cal., for plane communication and granted the company an experimental construction permit for a portable radio station using six channels to direct flight of airplanes.

Santa Maria Air Lines, Inc., received four airplane communication frequencies. The State Aircraft Corporation of Glendale, Cal., was granted three airplane frequencies and a permit for a portable station. The National Air Transport, Inc., received two frequencies.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED TOMORROW

All of the Special Events Will Be Given; Rain Forced Postponement Yesterday.

The Tuberculosis day program, which was stopped by rain at Sportsman's Park yesterday shortly after it started, will be held tomorrow, officers of the Tuberculosis and Health Society of St. Louis, which sponsors the annual event, announce.

All of the special events will be given just before the baseball game.

About 2500 spectators who were in the park at 2 p. m. had to retreat into the depths of the stands when a violent downpour interrupted the equipment race, run by members of the 138th Infantry, and brought about the postponement.

HELD AS DRIVER WHO FLED AFTER FATALITY

Joseph Oidani Arrested After Auto Is Identified as That Which Killed Edward Martin.

Joseph Oidani, 22 years old, 4102 Westminster place, was arrested yesterday after three persons identified his automobile as the car which failed to stop after fatally injuring Edward Martin, 26, a laborer, 700 South Broadway, at Broadway and Cerro street, Saturday night.

The arrest was made by Patrolman Clyde Peppers, who noted that the description of the machine which killed Martin fitted the car in which Peppers had seen Oidani calling on a young woman, at 233 South Broadway.

Oidani's machine is a Moon sedan, painted green, and has aluminum license holders and an advertisement posted in the rear window. These features were described to police by witnesses.

Two men and a Negro woman who saw Martin struck identified the machine. An inspection of the car disclosed further that the figure 4 in the license number had been changed to 8. Oidani denied striking Martin or knowing anything about the alteration of the license. He declared he was not on South Broadway Saturday night until 11 o'clock, about two hours after Martin was struck. Police interviewed the woman on whom he had called, who said she was riding with Oidani in the vicinity of her home at 345 p. m. She denied, however, that their machine struck anyone.

Oidani is held on a charge of having an improper automobile license, pending presentation of the facts in the Martin death to the grand jury.

Frank Kelly, 2313 Lafayette avenue, suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hart, 2905 North Garrison avenue, suffered fractured ribs and bruised left mid-thigh, when a machine driven by Kelly struck a traffic signal standard at Garrison and Sullivan avenues.

Conrad Breche, 3209 D. Vanshire avenue, a driver for the Highland Dairy Co., suffered a fractured skull at 6 o'clock this morning when his wagon was struck by a machine driven by Louis Abrams, 2624 Grace avenue, at Grand boulevard and Arsenal street. Abrams, who was cut and bruised, was arrested.

Mrs. C. M. Eoss of Chicago suffered a fractured rib yesterday when she was thrown from an automobile parked at Forty-third and State streets, East St. Louis, which was struck by a coal truck driven by Nathan Foster, Negro, 1505 South Third street, St. Louis. Foster said he struck the parked car after colliding with a car driven by Mrs. Bessie Asken of Chicago. Both were charged with reckless driving and released on bond. Mrs. Eoss is at Christian Welfare Hospital, East St. Louis.

Fairmount City (Ill.) Boy, 6, Killed by Tourist's Auto.

Edward Egnote, 6 years old, Fairmount City, Ill., died in an East St. Louis hospital last night of a fractured skull suffered Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile driven by William J. Kelly, a tourist of Kentucky, on State Highway No. 11. Kelly reported that the boy ran in front of his car. An inquest will be held.

15 HURT WHEN WIND UPSETS BUNK CARS

Injured Were Negroes Employed in Laying Track Near Monroe City, Mo.

MONROE CITY, Mo., June 12.—A severe wind storm sweeping through a section of territory in this community yesterday caused several thousand dollars damage, unroofing farm homes, barns and others buildings.

Six bunk cars occupied by a crew of Negroes laying steel on the line of the Wabash Railway, eight miles southwest of here, were blown off the tracks. Fifteen members of the crew were injured.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted.

Hail Damages Crop in Jasper County.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 12.—Hail pelted sections of Jasper County yesterday, damaging crops in some places, adding to the damage from breaking plate glass windows at Carl Junction, near here.

CUBA TO BUY ST. LOUIS-MADE PLANES FOR COMMERCIAL LINES

Island Army Officer Departs Following Local Visit, Praising City as An Air Center.

St. Louis capital may become important factors in the development of commercial aviation in Cuba, as a result of the visit here of Major D. L. Whitmarsh-Garcia of the General Staff, Cuban Army, a grandson of Gen. Garcia, Cuban patriot, who departed for Havana last night after spending several days visiting local aircraft firms.

Commercial air lines will be opened next fall, it is expected, for the transportation of passengers, parcel post, and light freight between Havana and Camaguey and Santiago de Cuba, thus traversing the length of the island; and later between Cuba and Mexico, 200 miles, Central America, 300 miles, and South America.

A private corporation is to be organized with $1,000,000 capital and a force of five airplanes, three tri-motored and two twin-motored planes, probably all amphibians. The corporation will act with the tacit consent and supervision of the Cuban Government.

"I came here to buy airplanes because I think St. Louis one of the most important aviation centers in the United States," Major Whitmarsh-Garcia said. "I expect to place an order for five planes when I return here in about two months."

Major Whitmarsh-Garcia was the guest here of Robert E. Lee, executive secretary of the Automobile Dealers' Association.

Card Index Among Seizures in Dry Raid on Pharmacy in Madison, Wis.

MADISON, Wis., June 12.—A card index, which Federal dry agents said listed a number of men as "O. K." and a quantity of alcohol and gin were seized by six agents in a raid late yesterday on the Park Hotel Pharmacy on the Capitol Square here.

The proprietor, Andrew B. Helstrom, and two clerks, were arrested and released under $1000 bond after arraignment.

The index of persons listed as "safe for liquor sales" was said to contain the names of a number of State Senators and Assemblymen as well as Madison business and professional men.

DRY AGENTS RAID BIG STILL

Six Men Arrested—Three Trucks Seized Near Collinsville.

Six men are being held in the East St. Louis jail charged with violating the Federal prohibition law. They were arrested Tuesday night when prohibition agents raided a large still two miles south of Collinsville. It was the second complete distilling plant found near Collinsville this week.

The still had a 200-gallon capacity boiler. Three concrete vats of molasses and a quantity of alcohol was destroyed. The agents seized three truck-loads of corn-sugar which were being hauled to the still. George Wenzel and Edward Koch were attending the still.

agents said, and William Traina, John Coyetta, Baptiste Laurenta and Arthur Mincke were hauling sugar.

How I Bleach My Skin White

"The camera is a merciless eye," says Miss Genevieve Barr, noted New York model, "and we girls who have to face it have a method of our own for keeping our skins white and flawless."

"We buy no ready-made preparations, but get three ounces of Orchard White, at the drug store and add to this the juice of two lemons. This makes several weeks' supply of a very fine skin bleach which softens, refines and whitens the skin without any harm or irritation. And because you use it while it is still fresh, it is twice as effective as any ready-to-use preparation. I find it a dandy bleach for tan and freckles, too. Every girl who takes up posing in New York, sooner or later learns this studio secret. The bleach costs only a few cents to make."

EASY TO KILL FLIES

Close doors and windows. Spray Flit 50 to 100 times toward ceiling in all directions. Let the fine Flit vapor fill the room for about ten minutes. Then open windows and doors. Every fly will be dead.

Flit also kills mosquitoes, roaches, ants, bedbugs, moths, and other household insects. Guaranteed or money back. It kills insects quicker, and is absolutely harmless to people. Flit vapor will not stain. The yellow can with the black band. More for the money in the quart size.

SANDY LADY GIVEN PURSE IN THIRD AT FAIRMOUNT

By Melvin D. Fulcher
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK.
June 12.—The racing strip was decidedly heavy today and as the afternoon advanced it became more difficult to negotiate. There was a good attendance, about 3000 being on hand.
Mother's Choice proved best in the first race, which was for maiden 2-year-olds. Dashing into an early lead, she was never seriously threatened, two lengths in front of Goose Step, which in turn was the same distance in front of Mervynville.
Lloyd Gentry saddled S. J. Gillman for this event. This horse was in the field with Patti Louise. Come back money made the field a short price, due to the Gentry horses. The latter ran poorly, however, never being a contender. By Lava, one of the choices, never got into actual contention. The winner paid $12.90.

Outsider Takes Second.
Eerie, an outsider, paying $36.82, won the second event after Anna Bell, the favorite, had got away very slowly from the barrier.
The winner assumed the lead at the stretch turn and drew away.

Miles Prior Disqualified.
The first disqualification of the meeting came with the running of the third race, which was for a mile and a quarter. Miles Prior being sent back after finishing out near the judges' stand with Sandy Lady.

The two hooked up at the head of the stretch, with Cavens on Miles Prior hand-riding his mount all through the last eighth. Both horses kept beating out badly and Prior finished a half length in front at the end. The numbers went up as they finished but were soon changed, with Sandy Lady first, Fichtelst first second and Revolver third.

The race was a heavy betting affair, with Revolver from the Gentry stable being heavily backed. It stopped badly after setting the early pace.

The disqualification of the Miles Prior was made, according to the stewards, on account of Miles Prior impeding Sandy Lady in the stretch by carrying her out and by Cavens, the rider on Miles Prior, striking Sandy Lady over the head.

Ella Bank Pays $52.66.
The Manchester purse attracted small field of sprinters and resulted in a surprise when Ella Bank, an outsider, paying $52.66, led throughout to win, eased up at the finish. Judge Murphy was an odds-on favorite for this race, being quoted at 7 to 10 in the last hour. He broke well but dropped out of contention right after the start.

NORTH HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, June 12.—Mrs. Madison Wallace Jr. will play Miss Virginia Pep and Mrs. I. S. Hynes will oppose Mrs. R. J. Caughey in the semi-final round for the women's golf championship of the St. Louis District, here tomorrow.

All four survivors defeated their opponents decisively, the closest match of the day being Mrs. Caughey's victory over Mrs. M. J. Isler, 3 up and 2 to play.

Mrs. Hynes' victory over Mrs. H. E. Davis was by a margin of 4 up and 3 to play while Mrs. Wallace gained the semifinal with a 6 and 5 defeat of Mrs. H. T. Ashton.

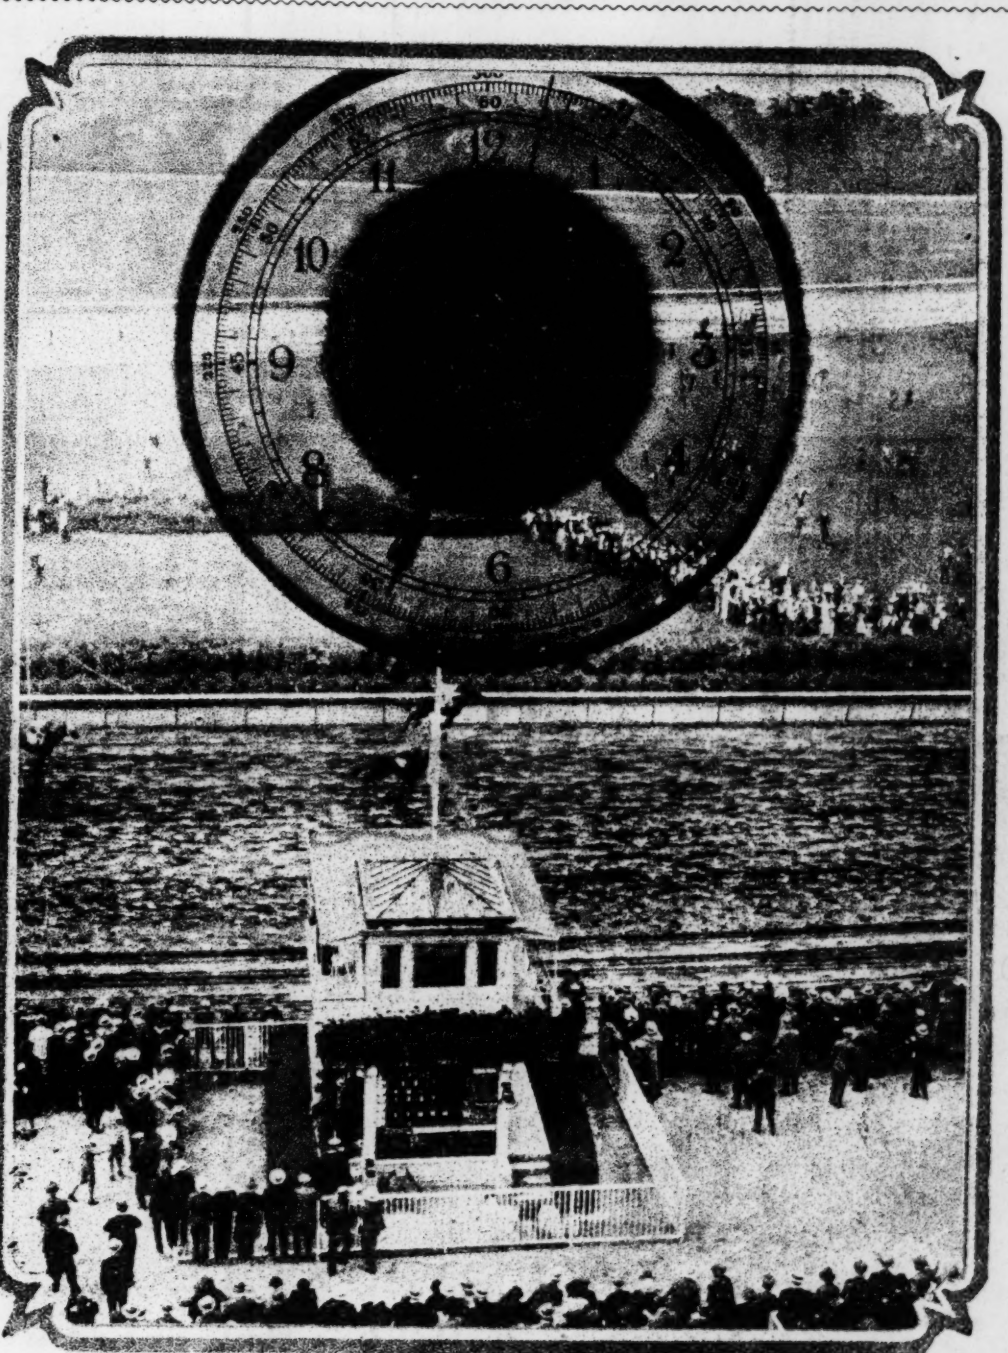

The outstanding feat of the day was the play of Miss Virginia Pep, who conquered Mrs. Harold Scott, 8 up and 7 to play.

The only result that savored of a surprise was the defeat of Mrs. M. J. Isler by Mrs. Caughey. Mrs. Isler was a slight choice to win her quarter final round.

Tomorrow's matches will be played in the morning and the feature will be between the present champion, Mrs. Wallace, and the former title holder, Miss Pep. In the other semi-final, Mrs. Hynes will be a strong favorite.

On No. 16 she topped her drive and took five on the par 4 hole. At 17 she again had trouble and used five strokes against a perfect score of 2.

The picture shows the finish of the Belmont Stakes and the watch that records the exact elapsed time of the race. A tiny, transparent watch is set next to the plate in the camera and a small lever sets the watch in motion as the race starts. When the shutter is clicked to take the picture the hands on the watch stop and the watch image is reproduced on the plate. The photo shows Blue Larkspur beating African in the Belmont. The time was 2:24.5.

MUNY CLASS A TENNIS MEET IS POSTPONED

The Class A tennis tournament for men has been postponed until July 12 by the tournament committee of the Municipal Tennis Association. It was originally scheduled to start Saturday. The postponement was granted after several clubs had reported that their players have been unable to get in a sufficient amount of practice, and also that the inter-club schedule are now behind schedule, due to adverse weather.

ABOUT 40 COLLEGES HAVE LACROSSE TEAMS

Itailed as the dark horse of intercollegiate sports, lacrosse is swiftly spreading among colleges and schools.
Although the most American of all games, having been the pastime of the Indians before white men set foot on the continent, lacrosse was being played by only a handful of colleges and schools before the war. Now, however, 40 colleges, as many schools and 12 clubs have teams on the field.

RACING RESULTS, TOMORROW'S ENTRIES, SELECTIONS AND WORKOUTS

KEY MEYER MADES 4 VICTORS AT FAIRMOUNT

Starting Gate Is Discarded After Disastrous Trial

NEW YORK, June 12. (The Associated Press.)—The Western Racing Association has decided to discard the Australian starting gate after a disastrous trial at Belmont Park yesterday. Joseph E. Widener, president of the association, made the announcement that the new Mars Cassidy starting gate would be given a trial at Saratoga.

Widener said that Richard Wilson, president of the Saratoga association, had agreed to take three of the new bars, the invention of the veteran starter, which are released mechanically instead of electrically.

The failure of the electric system to work on the morning of the Belmont meeting caused a serious accident to jockey Eddie Walters.

By Melvin D. Fulcher

Jockey Maurice Meyer, a native Ohio, about 23 years old, had a successful day at Fairmount yesterday when he rode four winners. Four horses were trained by his employer, Lloyd Gentry. In Cuba, winter, Meyer rode many winners. He is noted for his coolness and ability to follow a trainer's orders in a race.

He was for some time with the late Ed McCuan, a horseman at Fairmount. This was during his apprenticeship days. He is a brother of Harry Meyer, who rode successfully for the E. Bradley stable a few years ago. His four winning mounts yesterday all handled in a skillful manner. After assuming the lead and riding the pace, appeared to have little left for a final drive to the wire.

Meyer's victories came with unswerving consistency. Thistle, a fourth and Theo Red in the fifth. They returned as follows: Thistle, $47.42; Katrina L., $18. and Theo Red, $4.88.

Comeback Money Cuts Odds. It will probably be many days before another stable will send four winners to the post in one day at Fairmount or any other racetrack. The quartet—high Lloyd Gentry trained and added yesterday were all superior mud runners and the heavy rainfall made the track just right.

Comeback money played a big part in cutting down the odds. In a second, when Gaineswood was bid to the post his price was noted at 10 to 1 and the "comeback" money cut it to 5 to 1. Katrina L. was bid from 4 to 1 to 5 at the last minute. The rest of the race was a very close race and the sixth race, which the post was 8 to 5.

Gentry Trains 26 Horses. Lloyd Gentry the trainer who sent four winners to the post at Fairmount yesterday, a record which will likely be shot at for a good many days before it is equalled, is of the younger school. At one time a crack race rider, he became a trainer and for a number of years was associated with J. B. (Home) Respass, the trainer of E. R. Bradley and for whom he won many races. Later he became a trainer and for a number of years was associated with J. B. (Home) Respass, the trainer of E. R. Bradley and for whom he won many races. Later he became a trainer and for a number of years was associated with J. B. (Home) Respass, the trainer of E. R. Bradley and for whom he won many races.

The probable starters in the $5000 Hotel Statler Stakes, to be run as one of the feature events of Saturday's card, according to Secretary Campbell, will be made up from the following: I. B. Bradford's Baronne, Miss Loretta Brooks, L. B. George Collins, Thistle Ann, Kenneth N. Gilpin's Princess Isabel, A. B. Hancock's Pearl, W. M. Ingram's Princess Marjaret, Lewis & Kemp's Nell B. J. W. Marchbanks's Justina, Messdames K. Ramsey and F. Shelton's Miss Ramsey, B. B. Rice's Angel Bright and George N. Willing's Violet. The race is for 2-year-old fillies at five and one-half furlongs. In addition to first money, the rich prize the owner of the winner will receive a handsome sterling silver trophy from C. S. Abel, manager of the Hotel Statler of St. Louis.

General Manager C. Bruce Head will go to Chicago tomorrow night to attend a meeting Saturday of the board of directors of the Illinois Turf Association. Head is the representative of Fairmount Jockey Club on the board of the Illinois turf governing body.

The 1-year-old gelding, Nairbee, was destroyed Wednesday morning following a breakdown suffered in the second race Tuesday.

CALIFORNIA IS AGAIN FAVORED IN BIG REGATTA

NEW YORK, June 12.—On a flight back to London last summer, after California's great triumph in the Olympic eight-oared rowing finals, the stroke of the defeated British crew remarked: "I never have seen before such power as the Americans showed. They seemed to radiate it. There was no beating those boys once they put their backs to it."

This power, plus experience and confidence gained in world trials, is now back up the Hudson, polishing up for the open championship regatta at Poughkeepsie, June 24. Seven of the eight Olympic rowers are still seated in the "Golden Gate."

A new bow oar and a new coxswain have joined the championship array that set a new four-mile record last year in conquering Columbia.

All the evidence, in other words, points to California as the big favorite in a record field of nine varsity crews. Columbia, also unbeaten this season, is the East's chief hope. In fact, no supporter of Columbia will concede anything to California as the renewal of their 1928 duel draws near. Yet while these two may be having it out, Cornell may come through to furnish the big red's first real treat all the way down the Hudson since Pop Courtney's era.

Washington's picked now as the main contender, but Washington has been a factor too long in this classic to be overlooked. The rest of the big fleet may have its own private quarrels with Pennsylvania, Navy, Wisconsin, Syracuse and M. I. T. battling for positions. On spring form, at least, none of these crews figures.

REIGH COUNT WILL MAKE LAST START IN ENGLAND, JUNE 20

LONDON, England, June 12.—Reigh Count, the American colt which won the Coronation Cup at Epsom last week, is none the worse for the sensational and gruelling race. He was returned to his quarters at Newmarket immediately after he had redeemed himself for his three previous failures, and he is thriving. He is coming up to his next and last start in the Ascot Gold Cup, June 20, in a manner that is highly satisfactory to Trainer B. S. Michell.

It is still an open question who will ride the American colt in the Ascot Gold Cup. Joe Childs, the King's jockey, who piloted him to victory in the Coronation Cup, has again been sought, but he is claimed for Lord Lascelles to ride St. Jerome in the great two and a half mile classic.

Win or lose, Reigh Count's last appearance in competition will be the Ascot Gold Cup. It will be the end of his racing career. He will be shipped to the United States in the S. S. Minnetonka, sailing from this port on July 6. Trainer Michell will return in the same vessel. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz will not tarry long here after the Ascot Gold Cup. They have booked passage on the Isle de France, sailing on June 22.

Mrs. John D. Hertz's English purchase, Gypsy King, will carry her colors in the Newbury Summer Cup on Thursday. Gypsy King is a 5-year-old horse by Son in Law—Gypsy Queen. The Newbury Summer Cup is contested over the mile and a half distance.

Dead Heat in African Race. Rootless and Loupa ran a dead heat in the recent renewal of the Stewards' Handicap. A division at the Bloemfontein course in South Africa. A run-off was held and it Rootless triumphed by a half-length. The victor was the even-money favorite in the original race, with Loupa second choice at 5 to 2. Six horses ran, and Lady Green finished third.

76-Mile Grind Faces Blister Paraders Today

By The Associated Press.
JACUMBA, Cal., June 13.—With less than 20 minutes separating the two leaders in the Pyle cross-country race and the finish at Los Angeles only a matter of a few days, the lay of 76 miles to San Diego, Cal., today was viewed as one of the most important for the leg weary road plodders.
Pete Gavuzzi, England, had a lead of only 19 minutes and 56 seconds over Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J., at the start of the long hike. Salo materially reduced the Italian's advantage yesterday by winning the 59-mile run from Calexico, Cal., in nine hours, nine minutes and 5 seconds. Gavuzzi finished third. Gusto Umek of Italy, third in elapsed time, was second.

NO BLUE JAY STARS ON MARY LEAGUE TEAM

All Vogt, who once pitched the national High School team into a rout, and later an outstanding pitcher at Westminster College, finished the season with the team of the Municipal League, 22-4. Cradock, another star, is a teammate of Vogt on the Mary team. Cradock plays first base. In Vogt's Mary appearance last week, he struck out 14 and allowed only one run against the Morgans.

THREE AMERICAN TENNIS STARS WIN MATCHES IN DUTCH TOURNEY

HUNTER AND COEN ADVANCE IN SINGLES: TILDEN VICTOR

NOORDWYK, Holland, June 13.—The three American entries provided most of the interest in the Dutch tennis championship yesterday. Big Bill Tilden, Frank Hunter and Junior Coen swept through five matches in fine style.
In the men's singles Hunter and Coen each scored an easy victory going into the quarter final round. Playing with too much speed and power, they defeated their opponents, Hunter defeated Daniel Nielsen, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. His famous drive was good on many aces and seldom gave his opponent a chance to score. The Dutch City youngster played an imaginative game to dispose of Nielsboeck of Holland in another straight set match. The scores were 6-2, 6-3, 6-0. Tilden still was to meet the young Frenchman in the final round.
In the men's doubles, Hunter and Coen were paired with their old opponent, Hunter, and in the women's doubles with Kea Bouman, the Dutch women's champion. The American partners easily beat the Dutch team of Feith and Elms, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. With Bouman he defeated the Hungarian, Kirchmayer and Mrs. Balleck, 6-2, 6-3.
Coen and his partner, Hans Bouman of Holland, eliminated a pair of old timers in the doubles, the Egyptian Davis Cup team, and Coen Van Groenou, president of the Dutch Tennis Association, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

JACK WILSON WILL MEET ILLINOIS BOXER ON BATTING PROGRAM

Jack Wilson, recent graduate of the amateur boxing game, will meet Roy Logsdon of Litchfield, Ill., in a six-round contest announced today by Matchmaker Jack Toppet at the curtain-raiser of his battery boxing show featuring Jackie Fields and Jack Horner in a 10-round welterweight bout next Wednesday night.
Logsdon will be making his debut as a professional ring circles when he swings into action with Wilson. The Litchfield boxer has won several bouts in local and East Side amateur tournaments within the past year, showing a real hay walloper. Earl Lazorel, a stablemate of Jackie Fields, is paired with Al Gage, local welterweight, for an eight-round go.

BOYS "SLUSH FUND" OF IOWA U. WAS MERELY EMERGENCY LOAN FUND

By The Associated Press.
IOWA CITY, Ia., June 13.—The "slush fund" mentioned in connection with the expulsion of University of Iowa from the Ten, was in reality an emergency loan fund, Willis W. Meritt, administrator, explained today.
Meritt said the money was contributed by alumni and was used to loan to athletes, who had been and no individual received more than $200. No part of the money was used to induce athletes to attend the university, he declared.

HOW TO HIT HARD

As Told to a Special Representative by Jack Dempsey of the Post-Dispatch.

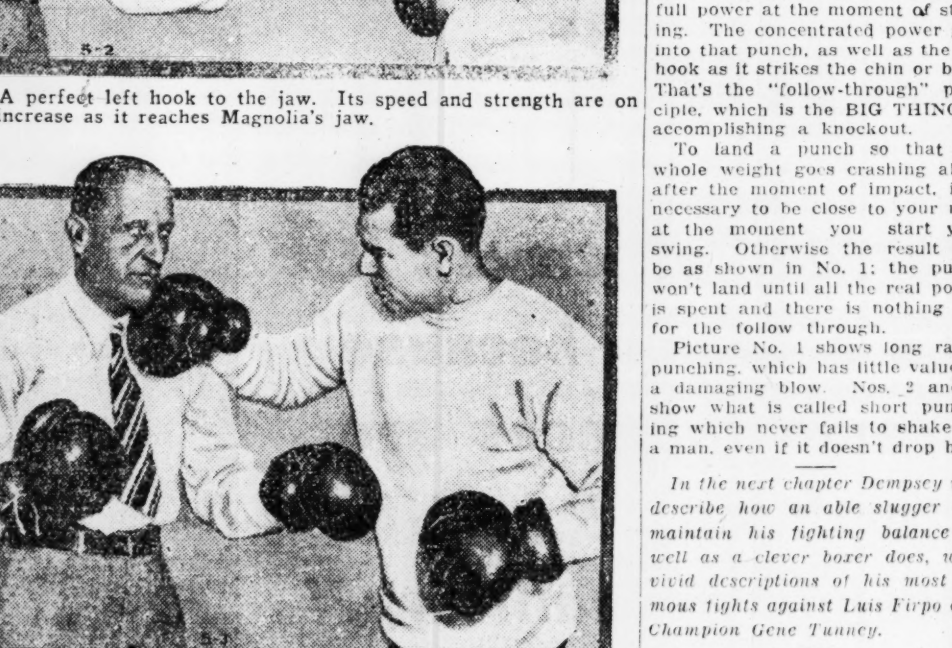

Wrong and Right Way to Punch

THE WRONG WAY. Dempsey starts swing too far back and its loses much momentum before reaching chin of Lou Magnolia, famous referee.

A perfect left hook to the jaw. Its speed and strength are on the increase as it reaches Magnolia's jaw.

Plenty of "close-in follow-through" on a right that made Magnolia's eyes pop even in a harmless pose!

MAX SCHMELING IS TOO EASY TO PUNCH, CARPENTIER ASSERTS

FORMER BOXER SEES GERMAN WORK OUT FOR UZCUDUN BOUT

By the Associated Press.
LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 12.—Gorgeous Georges Carpentier, trim and lean as that sultry July day in 1921 when a heavyweight crown trembled for a moment under the crash of his fists, stood on the outside of a training ring looking in.

The orchid man of France rubbed his chin caressingly against the top rope and stared at the labors of a husky youth referred to as "another Dempsey." It was the old Jack Dempsey, a scowling punching savage in those days, who took the best Carpentier had to offer in the second round of the first "Battle of the Century."

For six rounds, Carpentier watched Max Schmeling, the German Dempsey in appearance, maul three sparring partners around the ring. He never took his eyes from the action as his head swayed and his body instinctively hunched now and then from blows that were flying in the ring.

Schmeling Taxy to Hit.
Then it was over and the orchid man, probably the handsomest survivor of a Dempsey engagement, tilted a native gray hat over one section of his forehead, sunk his hands deep in the pockets of a perfectly tailored light suit, and beamed on the war correspondents.

"I can't tell you who I think will win the bout between Schmeling and Paulino Uzcudun—at least not here," he said in easy English, learned in France after his first trip to America. "In many ways this Schmeling does look like Dempsey, but—" the Frenchman smiled and those who remembered the Dempsey of eight years ago smiled and understood too.

"Schmeling is a better boxer than I thought he was, but he is wide open and easy to hit. I don't like to see the ease with which his sparring partners knock him. Paulino has fast and hard and often, and you can't tell where the punches are coming from."

"The German is loose and very fast for a big man. He punches quickly, too, and very hard with the right. He must be careful to keep away from Paulino and box always."

Boys Pull a New Trick.
During his brief visit to Schmeling's open-air training quarters in the rural depths of New Jersey, the debonair Carpentier was initiated into one of the newer rites of the camp playboys.

Before the workout, a seat was prepared for him at the ringside and covered with an innocent-looking, but damp, handkerchief. Under it were bare wires attached to a storage battery hidden under the ring. It is known as a "hot seat" and is one of the newer Bronx customs. Carpentier sat down, the switch was thrown—and it worked perfectly.

BOBBY JONES PAIRED WITH EMMETT FRENCH, IN U. S. OPEN TOURNEY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 12.—Bobby Jones will play the first two rounds of the national open golf championship in Winged Foot, where this month, in company with Emmett French, Walter Hagen, perennial British open champion, will have Louis Chipetta as a partner.

George Von Elm will play with John Bernard, Newton Center, Mass.; Horton Smith with Jesse Stitt, Kansas City; Bill Mehlhorn with Roland Hancock, who almost won the last championship; Leo Diegel with Emmett Spicer, the Tennessee amateur, and Johnny Farrell, the present champion, with Willie Kidd, Minneapolis.

This was made known today when the United States Golf Association released the official pairings for the first two rounds of the title play.

Hagen will begin play the first day at 8:35 o'clock. Gene Sarazen being first off the tee five minutes sooner. Von Elm will go at 12:40, Horton Smith 10 minutes later. Mehlhorn at 1:15, Diegel at 1:20, Farrell at 1:40 and Jones at 2 o'clock.

On the second day, the field will reverse itself, except that neither Hagen nor Sarazen will be asked to go off among the late starters for fear that they may hurt their chances by finishing in twilight.

YOUNG CORBETT TO MEET CLYDE CHASTAIN

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Young Corbett, southpaw welterweight from Fresno, has been signed to meet Clyde Chastain of Fort Worth, Tex., here June 21. The 10-round bout is expected to furnish a comparison of the respective abilities of Corbett and Jackie Fields of Los Angeles.

Fields was a close decision over Chastain in Chicago a few weeks ago. Corbett and Fields, outstanding contenders for the welterweight title, are great rivals, but efforts to match them during the past year have been unavailing.

Vaughan Starred in Quartet Of Sports and Ranked Second In His Studies at U. City High

By Henry L. Freund.

The unusual combination of high scholastic attainment and excellent athletic ability is found in Russell Vaughan, who graduated this morning from University City High School. Vaughan played on the football, baseball, basketball and tennis teams and yet found time to pursue his studies so that he graduated with honors. Russell ranked second in a class of 84 students and had an average of 82 for his three and a half years at school. He shortened the regular four-year course to three and a half years by taking extra subjects each term.

Vaughan was prominent in athletics at Junior High and as soon as he was eligible, he sought a place on the high school basketball team. Last season he received honorable mention on the County All-Star team. He plays a forward position and was second high point man on the squad.

Baseball was another sport which had an especial attraction for Russell. He played center field on the school nine for two seasons and besides being an important offensive factor, he hit over .300 last season.

He played end on the powerful University City football team of last year and because of his height he was the receiver for the University City forward passing attack and soon became adept at catching the pigskin. The fourth sport in which Vaughan earned a letter is tennis and the University City tennis team is well known for its prowess.

The netsters have not lost a dual meet in over three years.

Vaughan is 16 years old, 6 feet tall and weighs 140 pounds. He is a son of Dr. J. Vaughan of 714 Limit avenue. He plans to enter Washington University next September and take up the study of medicine. Vaughan was selected by the faculty and senior class of University City High School to be valedictorian of the graduating class.

HOME RUN ORGY MAY HASTEN RUTH'S RETURN

By David J. Walsh.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Babe Ruth, I am reliably informed today, will be back in uniform on Wednesday, June 19, which may not mean that he is hastening his recovery because he fears the worst for his home-run title at a time when he can't afford even to be challenged. The boy friend must knock them over for a new contract next fall and by that time, judging by the way some of the other lads are Ruthing the ball, while George persists in being a pale but determined rival, he may be just a man who used to lead the league.

Anyhow, those close to Ruth make no secret of the fact that he is worried about his immediate future. His home runs to date total 19, the ball club will have less than 100 games left by the time he is ready and it is two-by-four arithmetic to say that he must go faster than an arch can fall if he is to do 50 or better for the season.

Nobody else ever has touched 50 in the past, whereas today there are no fewer than three of them who can do that well and possibly three more who might. Gehrig hit his fifteenth yesterday. Simmons came along with his fourteenth. If both hold their pace of the first two months, they will finish close to 50.

So will Klein of the Phillies, with a record of 12 home runs in 47 games. Hafey also has hit 15, but has needed 51 games for the performance, a pace that would bring him home with about 45 for the year. Out of the Giants and O'Doul of the Phillies, with 12 each, can do about the same, if they keep going.

To Play Against Mack's.
All in all, it looks like Ruth is due to get more competition than an insurance agent.

They say this is bringing him back before his time. Team spirit, the good, old campus brocade, is doing the rest. Two days after his anticipated return, the Yankees will be involved in a five-game series with the Athletics and if the pennant doesn't hang on that one, it will do until a better hand is scheduled. If the Athletics win three of the five, they won't be caught with a warrant. If the Yanks take the series, they will have a white man's chance, no more, no less. Ruth, it seems, is prepared to make the grand gesture in this series for the honor of Ruppert's brewery or something.

Time to Change

ST. LOUISANS are in Cleveland today to ask the United States Football Association to change a rule that, to the American mind, has no excuse for existing—a rule which we, in this country, marvel could ever have been justified in any time or place.

Can the reader imagine any reason why, if a player on a team is injured, a substitute should NOT be permitted to take his place?

Such a rule exists and has, for many scores of years, been observed in England, and, in fact, all countries where British influence has dominated soccer. All attempts to get England to change its match play rule prohibiting substitutions FOR ANY CAUSE WHATSOEVER have failed.

In this country, the influence of England has continued so strong, that, up to the present time, no move to change the American rule in this respect has been brought before the National governing body, prior to this year. Up to the present time all cup games in this country have been decided on the "no substitute basis." Important games last season were decided with one or more men out of the lineup. On one occasion a St. Louis team was a sufferer.

Unfair to Spectators, Also

A PLAYER may break a leg—even be KILLED on the field of play—but the afflicted team must go on and battle with 10 men instead of 11. And if two or even three men are hurt, the condition is still the same. The afflicted team is out of luck.

And the spectators who paid to see two ELEVENs battle, in a struggle for a title, remain to see 11 men walk through 10, nine or eight opponents, according to the breaks.

The writer has attacked this unfairness for a long time. Results have been seen in the rules governing local play, where substitutes are used in the St. Louis soccer league games. But nationally "no substitution" has remained the rule.

Today, in Cleveland, a group of St. Louisans will bring the matter before the National body. Probably the Mound City advocates will not succeed outright, but they may force some concessions. Perhaps one sub-

Five Crews Are At Poughkeepsie For Title Race

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 13.—The broad bosom of the Hudson hummed with activity today as five crew squads resumed training for the thirty-second intercollegiate regatta to be held here, June 24. Syracuse's oarsmen arrived yesterday. Cornell joins the colony to-day, and Washington, Wisconsin and M. I. T. will arrive early next week.

A strong wind blowing straight up the regatta course failed to stop the oarsmen last evening and Richard Glendon Sr., the Navy coach, gave the other members of the rowing colony a real treat when he sent his varsity, junior varsity and Plebe crews over the course.

The varsity rowers, the full four miles, the juniors three and the plebes two.

Perhaps the most startling piece of work was accomplished by Buck Walsh's Plebes, for the youngsters battled varsity and junior varsity all the way down the course and defeated the Jayvee eight by half a length at the two-mile mark, where the Plebes dropped out of the trial. The varsity and juniors continued on, with the varsity holding a slight lead all the way.

Eddy, a brother of the famous Tom, stroked the junior in place of McClure. Eddy has been out of the boat for a time to pick up weight. He now tips the scales at 174 and is ready to row again.

Columbia, Pennsylvania, California and Syracuse also got a bit of the rough water, Columbia and Pennsylvania getting it over a two-mile time trial. California and Syracuse just took short runs along the west bank of the Hudson. It was the first workout of the year for Syracuse, as the Orange crews, under command of the 76-year-old coach, Jim Ten Eyck, arrived here late yesterday afternoon.

Helen Wills Is Not Ready to Predict Victory

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, June 13.—Helen Wills is back again, "happy" and "thrilled" beyond words at being here for London has been the scene of some of her greatest triumphs and most wonderful experiences.

"Yes," she said when interviewed today, "this has been a spring full of thrills for me. It's just too wonderful to describe and it would be impossible to compare the thrills, the anticipation or fulfillment of each event has given me."

Her presentation at court, her art exhibition, her engagement, Wimbledon—"each," she continued, "holds a particular sensation for me."

Although intimating that her presentation at court was one of the most exciting events in her life, she refused to be quoted on it. Instead she countered with, "I look forward very much to my art exhibition and as ever to Wimbledon."

"My reaction to Wimbledon is always the same—the fulfillment of something I look forward to with great joy all the year around."

As usual, she refused to talk about her game or anyone else's.

GRID CAPTAIN LOSES

POST AS PUNISHMENT

FOR BREAKING RULES

By the Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12.—

Charles "Bud" Edwards of Chicago, captain-elect of the 1929 Brown University football team, has been removed from office, it became known yesterday. Dean Otis E. Randall said "Edwards was placed on the severest sort of college discipline because of a serious fracture of college regulations this semester."

Edwards would not say why he had been placed on college discipline, but it is understood that the captain-elect ignored an order to pay his tuition for the second semester before a certain date.

Once on college discipline, Edwards automatically had to give up the football captaincy and forego all extra curriculum activities.

WILLIES TO MEET MACDONALD FOR DISCUSSION ON DISARMAMENT

S. Ambassador to Call on British Premier at Home Sunday After Presentation to King.

FACE PLAN ALSO TO BE TAKEN UP

Washington Envoy to Convey Hoover's Invitation to Prime Minister for Visit to America.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—It was stated today that United States Ambassador Davies will go to London Sunday to meet Premier Macdonald at Forres, a little town, south from Loomis, where the new Premier is spending a vacation.

The new Ambassador will be received by King George at Windsor Saturday when he presents credentials. This procedure is unusual according to the code of honors which would not permit an interview with the Prime Minister before presentation to the king.

Macdonald, who will arrive in London Sunday, is expected to discuss the important question of American co-operation on disarmament and permanent peace with Davies.

Macdonald, it is understood, will be accompanied by Davies as regards the scope of his visit, and the scope of his discussions while in the States would depend upon Ambassador Davies' advice.

General belief has developed that, aside from the routine Ambassadorial commission, Macdonald has been commissioned by President Hoover to discuss differences between the United States and Great Britain and help forward a naval reduction agreement based primarily on American accord.

The reason, and the immunity of the prospective visit of Macdonald to the United States, seemingly more interest has been shown to the arrival of Davies than usually the case with Ambassadors. It was pointed out in the quarters, for instance, that a prompt submission of credentials to the King would be almost impossible.

"Good Omens of Success,"
the Daily Herald, London organ, said the suggestion of a conference between the Premier and Macdonald had been greeted with a good omen of the mission.

"The paper said, 'It is evident that the Prime Minister and his Foreign Secretary are anxious to see the problem of Anglo-American relations in a straight talk between Prime Minister and the President solve all the difficult twinkling of an eye.'

Reservoirs which normally hold
over a billion gallons of water, are virtually depleted. The same conditions exist on the mainland. Under severe restrictions which have been put into effect, the quantity
at present available is equal to less than one month's supply.

Large emergency tanks are being constructed on the waterfront and also in the congested sections of the Chinese districts. Into these tanks steamers are pumping water imported from Manila, Shanghai and other ports. Thousands of Chinese line up there to get their daily quota of the precious fluid.

All shipping companies are cooperating in this unique importation.
Most of them are carrying the water without charge.

One of the difficulties confronting the Hongkong administration is the fact that a new dry season will be due early next autumn. An average rainfall now would only serve to meet the regular needs of the colony.

Special prayers were held in the Catholic churches here asking for rain. The Chinese are beseeching their rain gods and other benefi-cent deities to cause downpours.
The newspapers are waging stringent campaigns against water wastage and the community is responding dutifully.

Coolidge Says He Enjoys Being in Business World But Doesn't Like to Write

In New York for Insurance Board Meeting,
He Gives First Informal Interview
Since Leaving Presidency.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 12.—Without adding one jot to the ordinary jostlings and excitements of city life, Calvin Coolidge, insurance man and author, slipped into New York for the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance Co. yesterday and sat and talked for a few minutes to a representative of the New York World—the first informal interview he has granted since he returned from the Presidency three months and eight days ago.

Coolidge came to the Hotel Vanderbilt Tuesday night, quietly registered and yesterday stepped into a limousine that carried him to the home of the insurance company on Madison Square.
The new insurance executive, taken so lately from the field of active political life, was whisked to a private elevator to the thirteenth floor and met his fellow board members in the spacious, oak-paneled office of Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life.

There such member commented on the left hand of the former President; Coolidge had bound it in a black silk handkerchief and carefully shielded it from injury during the handshaking. Later he explained to the reporter with a half smile that the wrist was badly sprained.

"I did it out fishing last week," he said. "I was just trying to land a big one in my excitement during the battle I slipped over a large rock and hurt my hand. The doctor says it's a bad sprain."

But He Got the Fish.
"But you got the fish, Mr. Coolidge?"
"Oh, yes, I landed him all right and I guess he was worth it," he said.

Coolidge was at first reluctant to talk, standing stiffly, brown fedoras hat in hand, and remarking that he usually had "nothing to say to the newspapers any more."

But in a moment he was prepared to sit down and relaxing into a smile, quite different from the unyielding facial mask he wore during his residence at the White House, he remarked it was nice to come in and out of New York as a private citizen. As he talked he toyed with the familiar white ivory holder in which a half-smoked cigar rested, until Kingsley stroked eyes and gave him a light, with an aside to the reporter that "That's a thrifty Vermont habit—letting your cigar go out."

The former President smiled broadly.

THIRSTY CHINESE LINE UP DAILY FOR WATER

Distressing Scenes Enacted at Hongkong Because of Long Drought.

By the Associated Press.
HONG KONG, China, June 12.— Unusual, and in some cases distressing scenes, are being enacted daily throughout Hong Kong's island because of the water famine which resulted from a drought of 10 months broken by only occasional showers. The settlement is dependent upon rainfall and since last September this has totaled only 15.29 inches, a mere fraction of the average.

Reservoirs which normally hold
over a billion gallons of water, are virtually depleted. The same conditions exist on the mainland. Under severe restrictions which have been put into effect, the quantity
at present available is equal to less than one month's supply.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

PUBLISHER COPLEY ADMITS HE OWNS UTILITIES STOCKS

Says Holding $5,000,000 Worth of Securities Does Not Constitute Interest in Power Firms.

Issues Challenge to Senator Norris

Asserts in Statement That if Nebraska Repeated Charges Outside Senate
He Would Face Court.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
201-205 Kellogg Building.
WASHINGTON, June 12.—Ira C.
Copley, former Congressman and utility magnate, now the owner of 23 newspapers in Illinois and the Far West, continued his insistence before the Federal Trade Commission today that ownership of more than $5,000,000 worth of utility securities did not "constitute" an interest in the utility industry.

Appearing at his own request at the Commission's hearing, Copley sought to answer charges made recently by Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska to the effect that the Copley newspapers were influenced by the power trust.

Commissioner Edgar A. McCulloch, the presiding officer, refused to permit Copley either to read or file for the record a 27-page statement reviewing the Norris charges and Copley's answer. McCulloch declared that the Commission would restrict all testimony to the limits set by the Senate resolution ordering the investigation.

Debate With Norris Barred.
"You cannot read this place," the Commissioner said, "as a forum for debate with some one on the outside. We have nothing to do with charges made on the floor of the Senate. Any debate with a Senator is outside of the scope of the resolution."

"Is this an official denial of my right to make a reply to charges?"
Copley asked.

"It is," McCulloch replied. "You will be permitted to refer to memorandum, but you cannot come in here with a prepared statement. You will be allowed to testify on matters we think pertinent and to answer questions."

Copies of the statements were given to the press. The cross-examination by Robert E. Healy, chief counsel for the commission, followed the line of the statement, with the exception of the attack on Senator Norris.

In his attack, Copley, while giving Norris credit for honesty of purpose, insisted that the Nebraska Progressive had been misinformed and owed him an apology.
Challenged Norris' Statements.

He challenged Norris to make similar statements in the street without the benefit of Senatorial immunity. He promised that if Norris would do so, he would bring him before a court of justice.

"I am not impugning the motives of Senator Norris, nor am I charging that he is not actuated by the highest motives," Copley said in the statement.

"There may be some general basis for his claim that there is a so-called power trust. Of this I know absolutely nothing and could possibly know nothing, for the reason that I have not been in accord with him and I am not acquainted with any man or men who are interested in the power business in a large way, with the exception of Mr. Insull, and I have shown that there has been absolutely no connection of any nature between him and me."

Says Norris Is Off Trail.
"Perhaps Senator Norris was on a trail, perhaps a warm trail close to the bear. It is perfectly evident, however, that men with personal interests to serve have drawn a red herring across the trail, and Senator Norris has made the obvious mistake of his life in following the scent of the red herring drawn by men with petty personal interests to serve."

Copley disclosed that, while he had agreed to sell the last of his utilities holdings in the Illinois company, the actual payments would not be completed for several years. At present 50,000 shares of Class A stock in the Western United Corporation, now an Insull holding company for Illinois utilities, are held in escrow by the First Union Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. An initial one-fifth was paid on this stock
Jan. 1, a second fifth will be paid
July 1 and the remaining fifth will be paid for individually every six months thereafter until the sale is completed.

Voting rights on this stock are held by the bank.

Churchill Says Disparagement Of Baldwin by Press Caused Overthrow of Conservatives

Ex-Chancellor of Exchequer Refers to Labor Party as Socialists — Calls Them
"Pampered Darlings" of Electoral System.

By WINSTON CHURCHILL,
Former Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Late British Conservative Government.

By Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the London, June 12.—With a smoothness almost uncanny, with a swiftness almost unprecedented in political life, a Conservative Government with a united majority of 200 was looking forward hopefully to a renewal of effective power.

Today a Socialist administration supported by the strongest party in the House of Commons has assumed control of the fortunes of this island and its world-wide affairs. How did it happen?

There is never any lack of reasons to explain defeat or victory.
In this case three causes stand out clearly from the welter.

"They can be described in as many sentences. First, the natural desire for a change after four and a half years of steady but unexciting administration. Secondly, the prolonged campaign of disparagement levied against Mr. Baldwin's Government by the powerful, popular press upon whose support and encouragement the conservative forces have so often relied. Thirdly, the cold-blooded use of the Lloyd George fund to sabotage as many Conservative seats as possible irrespective of the immediate interest of the Liberal party."

He Asks Some Questions.
These I set forth not in complaint and still less in recrimination, for this is no time for recrimination, but as matters of indisputable historical fact.

Were there other causes? Is the new universal suffrage more unfavorable to conservatism than old? Did the Conservatives misjudge the psychology of the average woman? Does the woman's vote still remain an enigma? Is it in the main independent of party?

These questions deserve more examination. I can, of course, only state my own opinion. Broadly, I do not think the new electorate will in the long run prove adverse to conservative interests or that there is any ground for disparagement on that score. The new franchise merely revives in a multiple form the old household vote.

All the women have given very much the same verdict as in the same circumstances would have come from all the men. In the main households have voted together and though there are millions of exceptions, these probably balance each other. The same nation, with the same interests, hopes, fears and prejudices has voted for the same homes.

Was Slogan Well Chosen?
Was the slogan of safety first well chosen? Was it resented by the younger voters of both sexes?
Should we have stood a better chance by some gaudy fireworks

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight denunciations of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Virkula Killing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I read that J. J. White and E. V. Scrivens, two leading patrol prohibition agents, have added another murder to the long list of prohibition atrocities. Henry Virkula with his wife and two children were driving home when White fired on them with a sawed-off shotgun, killing Virkula and maiming his wife and children by a narrow margin. Fine work, using the weapon of the gangster and gunman and likewise shooting the victim in the back. These officers make Charlie Birger and his gang in their heyday look like a bunch of pikers. Birger got the rope and some of his men got life, but these birds get by with it. Perhaps they will get the severe reprimand—the more careful next time. As usual, when they examined their kill, they found no liquor. Just another murder. A widow and two orphans. I wonder how long it will take the American people to wake up.

What Ozarkians Are Eating.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I REGRETTED very much to read your editorial in regard to our beautiful Ozarks.
I would like for you to visit some of our farms, see our fat sleek cattle, Jersey cows, purebred poultry, fat hogs, turkeys and sheep, our growing crops and our abundant gardens. After that I am quite sure you would think we eat a long, long way from being destitute. As for starving, there is not a State in this good old U. S. A. that is as far from starvation as our people. Just a sample of our Ozark meals was our family dinner today—French fish, piping hot biscuits with real butter, honey, new potatoes and green peas, crisp lettuce and radishes fresh from our own garden and strawberry shortcake topped with whipped cream. And if you will come down this fall I can feed you on fried chicken, country ham, lima beans, apple and pumpkin pie, watermelons and cantaloupes, peaches, pears, grapes, walnuts, hickory nuts, persimmons, etc., all produced on our rocky Ozark farm. Nature has been very kind to us—a mild climate with a high altitude, insuring its healthfulness, abundant rainfall, vegetables of every description, and this region seems to be especially favored in everything that is necessary to produce the finest of fruit. Our apples and strawberries are unmatched in beauty and flavor. In fact, the finest strawberries, apples and tomatoes in the world are grown here. Thousands upon thousands of carloads of fruit are shipped out of here every year and to an ever-growing market at top prices. This is truly a "Land of a Million Smiles" and as surely as the sun rises and sets our well deserved land boom is coming.

Radio Goo.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
EVERY Little Breeze Seems to be a "Whisper Louie." I turn the dial but the prospect is bleak. "In Dreams, I Kiss Your Hand, Mod-emo," an average of 17 times a week. "I'm Only a Vagabond Lover, but Honey I Love You Truly." "You're Mighty Lak a Rose"—Oh, the time is coming close when I will become unruly. All week long I've been "bumbling" to myself. Please Mr. Radio Man, take down off the shelf some of the stuff that is not so "gooey." I got so tired of this loveless "hoovey." Please, radio fans, can't you start a drive to bring us a Dutch Gutter Band like the Hungry Five?

Passing of the Sandbox.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
THE PUBLIC SERVICE CO. is putting bars around the sandboxes on front of cars, making it impossible for anyone to sit on the sandbox.
From time immemorial it has been our privilege to sit on this box and admire the motorist's skill in driving a car and to chat with him. It used to be a great deal of interest to sit on this box and watch the motorist spit through the little hole he had in the floor.
It is said that "there is always room for one more"—and this has been on the sandbox, but now the last outpost of the old civilization has been surrendered to progress and we will have to hove to the inevitable. We were formerly also in position to stand on the back platform but even this privilege has been taken away from us.
How is the motorist to know about weather conditions, politics, baseball, etc., if we are not permitted to sit on the sandbox and discuss these important subjects with him? FISHENSUEY.

What to Do With the School Board.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Some bode might have said in his speech when Forest Park was dedicated that the park would be for "all the people all the time." But when he was all wet, why not build a hospital or two in the park? Certainly the park is even better for a hospital than a school. And if a hospital why not an asylum for the insane? Or a dog track? More people are interested in dog tracks than in schools.
Let's put the school board in the park, preferably in the Zoo.
FOR MORE BENCHES.

THE POWER INQUIRY.

It is not surprising that within 18 months after the terrific combat over the Walsh resolution the United States Senate can pass without dissent a resolution which authorizes an even more sweeping inquiry into the power industry than the Montana Senator proposed.

The Couzens resolution, which passed last Saturday in almost the only profound quiet the Senate has enjoyed during the special session of Congress, authorizes an investigation by the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, after Congress convenes next fall, of telephone, telegraph and electric power companies engaged in interstate business, and of radio and cable companies engaged in interstate and foreign communication. It will have almost unlimited authority to inquire into the ownership, financing, control, service, trade practices and rates of all such companies in the United States. The purpose of the inquiry is to gather information pertinent to the Couzens bill, which proposes the creation of a Federal commission on communications and power, to be entrusted with the regulation of interstate communications and interstate power transmission.

The moral of what has happened should not be lost upon any industry which may be under a delusion that it is bigger than the Government. In the days when the packers were under investigation the Federal Trade Commission expressed the opinion that the packing industry had indeed become more powerful than the Government. Time proved the commission unduly pessimistic; as time must inevitably prove that no industry, however powerful, is stronger than its creator. The power industry, which had sent against the Walsh resolution the biggest lobby that Washington had ever seen, knew all about the Couzens resolution. In the 18 months since it hurled its forces against the Walsh resolution the country, thanks to the investigation which resulted when the inquiry was shunted to the Federal Trade Commission, had learned what all the shouting was about.

It learned that the power industry, as Gifford Pinchot puts it, "throwboats our investment bankers, dictates our investments, nominates our Governors, bullies our Senators, appoints and subsidizes our university professors, and prostitutes our free press."

Knowing, as Mr. Pinchot says, that "the Government of the United States could control it, and having no other cloud upon its horizon," it thought to escape exposure by keeping the inquiry out of the hands of such a Senate committee as exposed the oil frauds; but the Federal Trade Commission surprised the country by running over the witness stand, through on pitiless month after another hundreds of mortified, humiliated and truth-telling witnesses who told the whole wretched, sordid, and shameless story of how the industry had financed politicians, bought newspapers, bribed college professors, intimidated brokers—until, as John B. Sheridan, its field agent in Missouri, confessed in a letter to one of its associates, the very men who did this dirty work cried out against their own debasement.

The power industry had gone too far. It realized that when it was too late. Thereafter it could only sit in the stocks it had made for itself—to be glibbed at by all those it had bought and disgraced, and to admit that its pious defense of the rights of the states, which it set up against a Federal inquiry, had been a conscious fraud. That was why the Couzens resolution went through in such a deadly hush.

IN FAR-OFF DINGLEY DAYS.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says:
The "second great tariff pilgrimage," as a Washington correspondent aptly describes it, is due to start this week, the first pilgrimage having been made while the House of Representatives was holding its hearings. The House, having passed the Hawley bill, all those who want still higher duties will appear before the Senate subcommittee which have had apportioned among them the various schedules and commodities. Once again it is in order to recall the witness at a previous tariff hearing, who, when asked what interest he represented, nearly upset the committee by answering "the public."
That "previous hearing" belongs to history; it was when the Dingley tariff law was being born. And the witness who appeared for "the public" was a Boston attorney, of the name of Louis Brandeis, now a Justice of the Supreme Court, and then, as now, a defender of the public interest.

CONTEMPERES AT SAN REMO.

San Remo's ultra-ultra set is buzzing with indignation over the tightfistedness of Maybelle Gilman Corey. It seems that rich American grass widow has refused to settle upon her prospective husband, Prince Louis de Bourbon, more than $200,000. It is true that sum was only to provide a pin-money income of $1000 a month to the Prince, and Mrs. Corey was prepared to defray living expenses herself—but since when have nouveau-riche Americans come to regard so lightly the dignity of a Spanish Prince in whose veins flow the purple corpses of the ancient Bourbons?

Of course, the Prince haughtily declines to accept any such paltry sum, the wedding is off, Louis has saved his honor, and John Q. Smith of Carbondale, Ill., who supports a wife and six kids by digging coal, would like to know what this is all about.

METROPOLITAN EXPANSION PLANS.

Past discussions of metropolitan expansion for Greater St. Louis lacked the auspicious beginning attached to the current endeavor to solve this old problem. There was bitter controversy in the past, with the county and the city on opposite sides of the boundary fence and the county divided within itself. At last the warring factions have come to terms and have gone about the task in the proper way by hiring a planner conceded to be an expert, Prof. Thomas H. Reed.

In the short time he has been here, Prof. Reed has given signs of impartiality and of every-day common sense. It has been refreshing to read his observations on the governmental and territorial middle of St. Louis and St. Louis County, and to have that situation and its implications pictured by an outsider without local prejudices. Prof. Reed's early reaction has been to suggest the possibility of a triple form of metropolitan government—a unit for the urban section, which does not necessarily stop at the present boundary of the city; one for the thickly settled suburbs; and one for the great area of farms and woodlands and hills.

The suggestion has a logical basis. Whether it is the proper one to be carried out remains to be seen. Prof. Reed wisely has not committed himself in advance to any plan, and has promised to tackle the job without thought for past schemes and quarrels. His work will be watched with great interest. He is desirous of learning what the people think of the governmental needs of Greater St. Louis and how those needs may be filled. Now is a good time for the people to speak.

THE NORRIS AMENDMENT.

For the fifth time the Senate has passed Senator Norris' proposed constitutional amendment, which would abolish the short session of Congress and lessen the interval between election and inauguration of the President. As every schoolboy knows, the original purpose of the long interval was to allow sufficient time, at a period when men traveled by boat and horseback, for the newly elected President to reach Washington.

As to the short session of Congress, Senator Norris very ably has demonstrated its evils. For one thing, the fixed date of adjournment, March 4, makes possible the filibuster, and most successful filibusters—sometimes conducted by a single Senator—have taken place in the short session. In the short session, too, sit the lame ducks. Congressmen repudiated by the people but still enjoying their power and frequently using it for personal ends.

In short, the virtues of the Norris amendment are self-evident and no effective argument has been made against it. Its failure to pass the House is due more to a vague reluctance to disturb an old form, no matter how cumbersome it is or how unhappy its results, than anything else.

Let the House consider how they order these things in England. The British general elections, in which the people repudiated the Conservative Government, took place on May 30. Immediately Premier Baldwin prepared to vacate his official residence at 10 Downing street to make way for his successor. Without any interval at all save for necessary formalities, the new Government began to function. That is the sensible way to do it.

GOLF'S DEMOCRACY.

Horton Smith discusses happily the democracy of golf, from which, as he observes, the last trace of snobishness has disappeared. The Missouri wonder documents his essay with such instances as Hagen and the Prince of Wales in the fellowship of the links, the winning of the British amateur championship by one of the crowd and the status of the "pro" in club circles. Further and more dramatic data might have been leaved upon. In golf the captain of industry defers humbly to his caddy; the snooty highbrow "takes it on the chin" from the instructor without protest or demurrer; the proudest of patricians sob their hearts out in despair or coin sublimic metaphors in an orgy of primitive exultation. One thing is certain. Pedigrees, purses and palaces mean nothing at all to that bland, serene and impish adversary, the golf ball. If you don't keep your eye on it you're a dub, and that goes for Prince, parliament, for the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady. Moscow couldn't ask for more.

RELIEF IS IN SIGHT.

Judge Percy has explained at some length why St. Louis Circuit Judges take such long vacations in the summer. Seven of the 16 Judges will knock off for three months beginning July 1, while the other nine will restrict their holiday to a mere two months. As we understand it, the reasons are as follows:
1. Tradition. It has been the practice of Judges to take long vacations since the time to which "the memory of man runneth not," and the legal mind is so constituted as to make it difficult to break with tradition.
2. Heat. Need the point be argued that it is unpleasant to sit in the courtroom when the mercury is playing in the upper nineties? Judges dislike heat, and this dislike is shared by lawyers and jurors.
3. Exhausting nature of judicial work. When Judges sit on cases, they must exercise great concentration, a form of mental effort which is very fatiguing. They must also burn the midnight candle reading briefs, writing opinions and meditating.

Under the circumstances, we are glad to report that relief is at hand. The last Legislature authorized the appointment of two more Circuit Judges, swelling the total to 18. With this additional help, we dare say the Judges will be able to arrange a schedule for next summer by which all of them will get a full three months' vacation, thus avoiding brain fas, migraine, boredom or what have you.

WISCONSIN AGAIN.

Orville S. Poland, headman of the New York Anti-Saloon League's legal department, takes up his pen and writes to President Hoover. The subject of Mr. Poland's letter is the recent celebration, at Ripon, Wis., of the anniversary of the Republican party's birth.

Mr. Poland says the celebration "was open and impudent violation of the prohibition law," meaning that beer was served. "There followed a praiseworthy act of official duty," Mr. Poland adds, and "the protest against this act is more impudent and culpable than the original law violation. I respectfully submit that to allow this protest to go unrebuked would be in derogation of your philosophy of law observance and enforcement. May I hope that you will administer a rebuke to those whose protest is designed to break down your policy?"

It must have been Wisconsin Democrats—are there any Democrats in Wisconsin?—who served beer at the celebration.

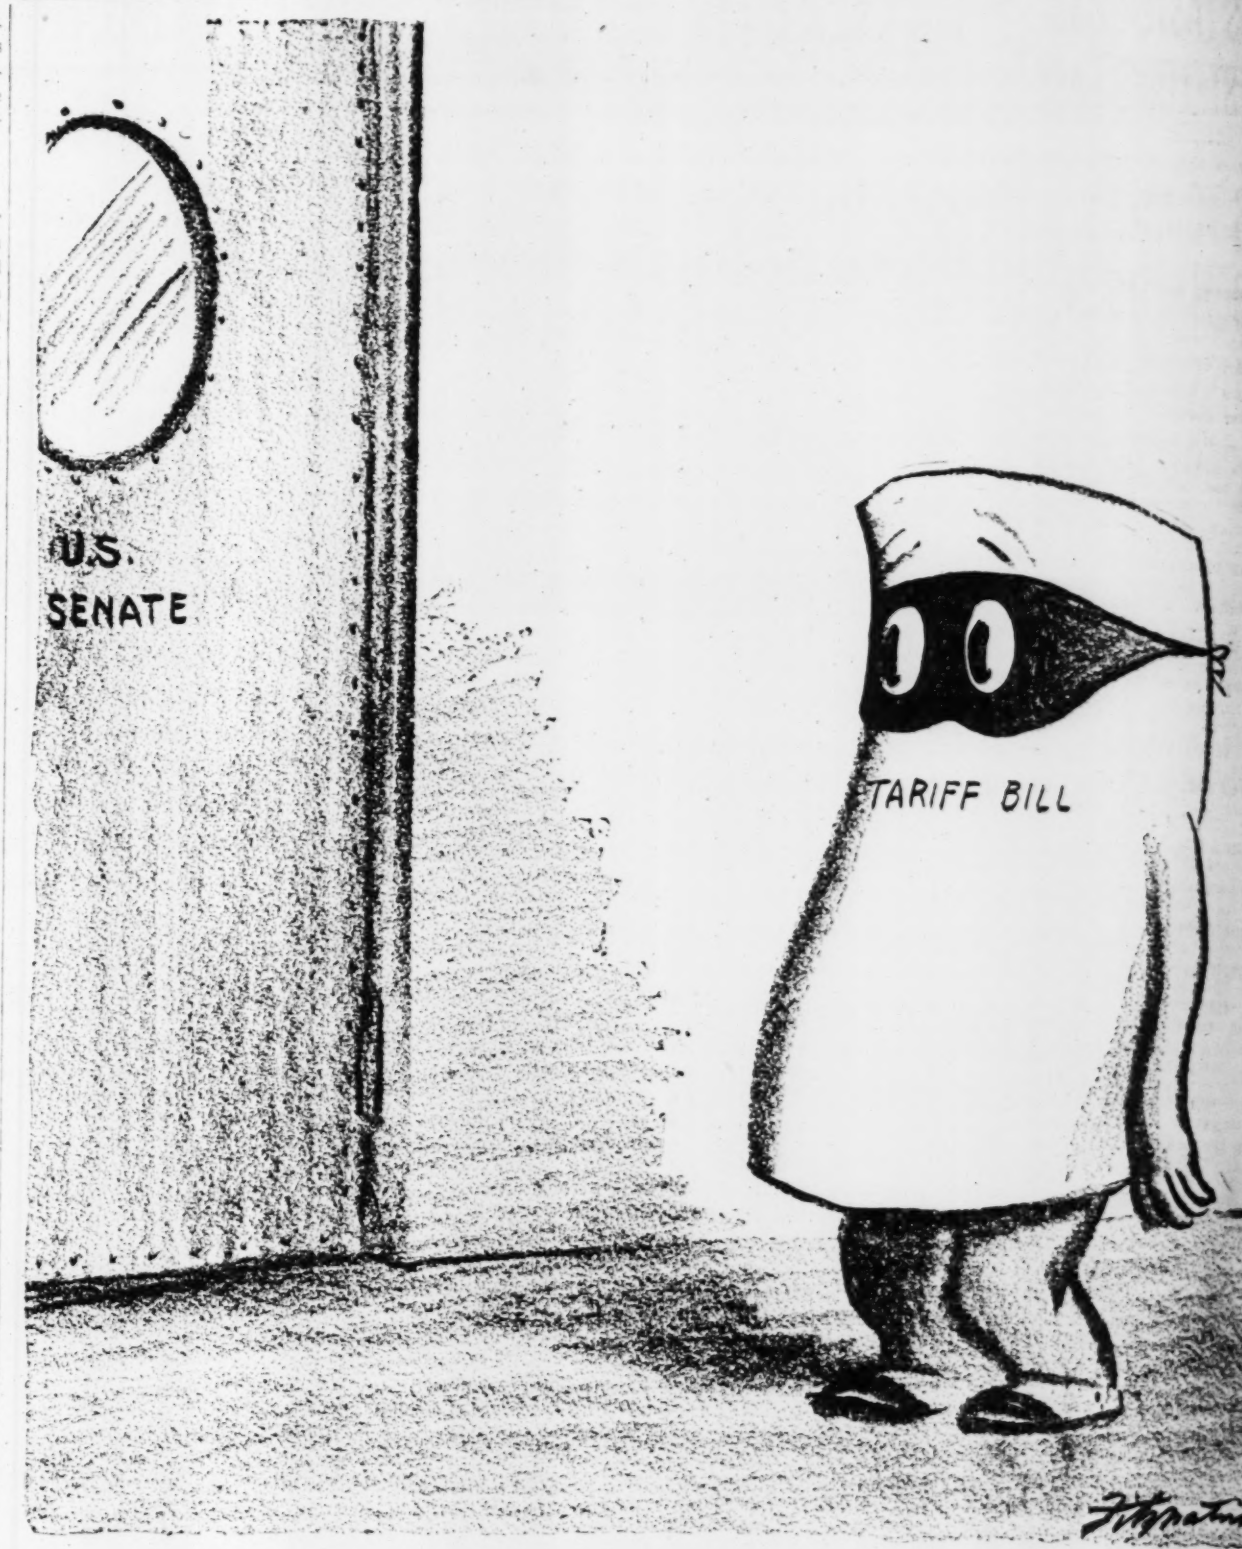

THE WANDERING SHOEMAKER.

We have come to suspect that many of our learned Judges harbor repressed desires to become literary critics. On the slightest or no occasion they deliver themselves of arbitrary literary judgments. Called upon to decide a point of law involving literary work, they throw in for good measure a discussion of the artistic merits of the book. In the most recent instance a New York Justice has pronounced Ludwig Lewisohn's "Mid-Channel" the "gibbering of a selfish sentimentalist."

It so happens that a majority of the reputable literary critics in the country have held Lewisohn's autobiographical novel in very high esteem. Even the more conservative regard it as a work of a very high order. Frankly, we confess that we prefer to accept the dictum of the literary critics as to the merits of Mr. Lewisohn's work. They are specialists in literature, just as the New York Justice is, we assume, a specialist in the law.

Let the shoemaker stick to his last.

Anyway, Harry Sinclair is our jailbird of paradise.

British Labor's Opportunity

Since the Labor Party depends for continuance in power on Liberal support, it would seem a good strategic move to adopt the Liberal program, or important parts of it; this would practically compel Liberal support; if the Liberal measures failed, Labor would be in position to ask Liberal support for Labor's own program.

From the New Republic.

THE British Labor party does not possess that clear majority which would enable it to pass legislation against the opposition of the Liberals and Conservatives, and so it cannot undertake any such thoroughgoing socialization of the country as was proposed, for instance, in the famous Nottingham program adopted during the war. But, in a Parliament of 615 members, it lacks only about 20 votes of such a majority, and so can continue in office as long as a little more than half of the 57 Liberal members refrain from voting against it. It need not make a formal coalition with Lloyd George's party as a whole; it has the opportunity of presenting legislation which a progressive faction of the Liberals would not have the face to oppose.

This opportunity is far from a narrowly limited one. For the more intelligent sections of the Liberal party itself have been moving rapidly in the direction, not to be sure, of domestic socialism, but of a planned economic system, functionally devised in the interest of social welfare. Indeed, some of the more intelligent thinkers in the Labor ranks hold the opinion that the Liberal economists have recently done far more realistic and constructive work on national policy than the political leaders of Labor. It has even been complained that Lloyd George's promise to abolish unemployment within a year, and the method by which he expected to fulfill this promise, were stolen from the earlier Labor program on the same subject. It was the expert Liberal committee's report of "Britain's Industrial Future" which proposed such things as an economic general staff to collect and complete statistics and plan continuously for the welfare of the nation, a board of national investment to direct the flow of capital where it was most needed and so increase the standards of living and the national efficiency, and a whole array of other devices which in this country would probably be denounced as the extreme of socialism. And in foreign policy—where even during its previous incumbency the Labor Government found plentiful Liberal support—co-operation ought to be easy, especially in bringing about reduction of naval armaments by agreement with the United States, and European appeasement.

If any considerable number of Liberals should refuse to support Labor in carrying out important parts of the Liberal program, Labor would be justified in appealing to the country to deprive such a stultified group of their power of veto. If the new measures were established and proved successful, the amelioration which they would furnish the country's life, combined with the experience which they would provide in planning and carrying out economic changes, would do much to make possible further steps, and to recommend to the country the Liberal program as a whole. The Liberal party would then have the choice of following Labor further or attempting to block more progress.

And if the measures produced undesirable results, it would be a powerful argument against such gradual and piecemeal change. Labor could then say, we have tried your methods; now give us a chance to develop our own. No doubt an election conducted on such an issue might well result in a temporary return to power of the Conservatives and a reaction against even the moderate changes already made. But it would clear the issues, sharpen the lines of division, and virtually eliminate the Liberals from the picture.

WORST PUN OF THE WEEK.

From the London Opinion.

FILMS showing the hunting of wild animals in Africa with full sound effects are to be shown. We suppose they will be known as "The Stalkers."

WASHINGTON, June 12.

OUT of the Washington navy yard chugged a beautiful 40-foot launch. On board was Mrs. Herbert Hoover, the after cabin with her were three friends.

In the channel the launch turned downstream. And then gathering speed around 12 knots per hour, it soon was to sight in the direction of Mount Vernon. The No. 10,639 was making its voyage under the Hoover regime.

President Hoover ordered the yacht flower into exile, but No. 10,639 was in Washington in the event he ever desired for recreation on water.

The launch was a part of the Mayflower equipment. It was built for President Harding. Coolidge made use of it in his administration.

In the language of the navy, it is the identical "barge." It was used by President Hoover to leave the yacht on a cruise. President Coolidge made use of it during his administration.

When not in use, the launch was in the Mayflower. It was housed in a situation amiship on the port side.

THE No. 10,639 was constructed by the Government and quite a contrast to the time it was being built. It bears the insignia of the President of the United States, and is luxuriously finished. It has a capacity of 27 passengers, including the crew of four.

The launch is constructed of white oak plank. The deck is spruce, and the hull is of white oak.

The cabin is paneled with mahogany. The seats and side ladders are decorated by hand carving. Silver plating on the real leather, and beautiful cushions scattered around.

The after cabin (for guests) is finished in durium, an aluminum alloy. The type of material used in the construction of the Graf Zeppelin.

ITS crew is composed of four men. Coxswain is in command. The three are the engineer and the stern hookmen.

The craft was built in the navy yard at New York and designed by the Bureau of Construction and Repair.

Its sister, the No. 10,631, was completed at the same time, and was assigned to the command of the battleship fleet. However, it is by no means as luxuriously outfitted as the President's craft.

With the Mayflower decommissioned, the navy yards at Philadelphia, Pa., 10,639 bids fair to rival its predecessor in the Hoover administration.

PREDICTS FASTER TIME FOR ST. LOUIS CARS

Director of Public Service Co. Tells How Speed Has Been Increased.

With speed and efficiency of St. Louis street car system have been increased was told by A. J. J. director of transportation of St. Louis Public Service Co., in an address today at the annual meeting at Hotel Chase of the Street Railway Association.

At 150 street railway executives from Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Nevada and Utah attended.

Frank said that the increasing competition of private automobiles, busses and service cars is making it necessary for street cars to reduce their running time and save their service.

St. Louis, he said, there has been an increase in the average of street cars from 3.57 miles an hour in January, 1928, to 4.0 miles an hour at present.

He predicted that within less than a year the average will be increased to 4.5 miles an hour without the speeding up, Frank said, being accomplished by careful studies of schedules and the elimination of time points.

Better maintenance of cars also a factor in the faster service, he said. He said that a year ago the average mileage of a car was 10,342 miles before being put in for repairs or on account of operating failures, but now the average mileage of a car is 11,457.

Progress has been made in the direction of flat wheels. In the ending Feb. 28, 1928, the number of cars turned in with flat wheels equiring regrading was 1,000.

He said a campaign was started to instruct motormen in proper braking of their cars. The result has been that for current week only seven cars were turned in with flat wheels.

Engine S. Hight of Chicago, chief engineer of the Illinois Terminal Railroad Co., told the delegates that his company had laid itself out of the red since concentrating on freight service, dropping off outside activities such as power-plant operation, and encouraging industries.

REDUITS FASTER TIME FOR ST. LOUIS CARS

Director of Public Service Co.
Tells How Speed Has Been Increased.

How the speed and efficiency of the St. Louis street car system have been increased was told by A. J. Fink, director of transportation of the St. Louis Public Service Co., at an address today at the annual meeting of Hotel Chas. of the Missouri Railway Association.

Fink said that the increasing competition of private automobiles has necessitated a change in the running time and speed of the street cars.

At St. Louis, he said, there has been an increase in the average speed of street cars from 9.87 miles an hour in January, 1928, to 10.1 miles an hour at present.

Fink predicted that within less than a year the average will be increased to 10.5 miles an hour without the elimination of any more cars.

The speeding up, Fink said, is being accomplished by careful scheduling of the cars and the elimination of time points.

Better maintenance of cars also has helped in the faster service, he said. He said that a year ago there were run an average of 10,000 miles before being taken in for repairs or an overhaul of operating failures, but now the average mileage of a car before it suffers an operating failure is 114,572.

Progress has been made in the direction of flat wheels. In the ending Feb. 28, 1928, the number of cars turned in with flat wheels requiring regrinding was 1,000. The result has been that for current week only seven cars were turned in with flat wheels.

George S. Hight of Chicago, engineer of the Illinois Traction & Railroad Co., told the delegates that his company had eliminated the use of the red "X" since it was concentrating on freight business, leaving out outside active equipment. It was power-plant operation, eliminating unproductive and encouraging industries.

THE REV. AUGUST RUECKER, EVANGELICAL EDITOR, DIES

The Rev. August Ruecker, 44 years old, editor-in-chief of the Evangelical Synodical Publications, died last night at St. John's Hospital following an operation for appendicitis and a kidney ailment. He resided at 6007 E. 11th man avenue.

The Rev. Mr. Ruecker was pastor of Evangelical churches in Columbus and Cincinnati, O., and Pittsburg, Pa., prior to assuming the editorship. He founded the Evangelical Mount Tabor Church at Lindenwood three years ago, serving as its pastor for a short time.

MISSOURIAN SELECTED FOR SECRETARY TO DWIGHT DAVIS

Fred G. Heins Chosen After Hundreds of Applicants Are Interviewed.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Fred G. Heins of Alma, Mo., has been promoted from a clerkship in the State Department at $1869 a year to the position of confidential secretary to Governor-General Davis of the Philippines, at a salary of $3099 a year. Gov. Davis asked all departments to submit candidates for the position and picked Heins after interviewing hundreds of applicants.

When notified of his appointment to the State Department in 1924, Heins wired back, "Can't come for two weeks; must take in the crops."

He was then working on a farm in Iowa. He has a perfect record of the Division of Foreign Service Administration in the State Department.

New York Day by Day By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 13. THE "My Pal" theme invariably threads itself into the Broadway fellowship. Its mawkish sentimentality mists the eye when supper club stayouts sign off in barber shop chords at sunset. After midnight everybody along the street is a pal. Good old Al! What a boy!

But the calloused Broadwayite has long since learned when in trouble to avoid asking favors of his fellows. The Broadway good fellowship consists in helping those who do not need it. The "helping hand" is extended chiefly in giving $10 a plate dinners to millionaire actors.

A Broadway wag once emphasized the idea by the dramatic exclamation: "My Pal! I'm giving a finger across his throat. Broadway geniuses only to success. When the bankroll vanishes the lights flash "Detour." It lives in the eternal now and "has been" is not in its lexicon.

The "come back" is seldom achieved along the street. The White Way failures who have been restored to useful citizenship, as a rule, turned their backs on the thoroughfares and started over again in new pastures. Some of Hollywood's astounding successes were former Broadway failures.

At night on street corners, in speakeasies and chop houses may be found an army of professional cadgers spinning their roseate tales of erstwhile triumphs. These are not always the vagaries of the chronic down-and-outer but throbbing chapters from real life.

Broadway is ever ready with its rousing: "He was a good fellow when he had it!" Its crocodile tears mean nothing and cost less. Alcoholic sympathies are usually forgotten in the agony of next morning's headaches. A sober Broadway has a cold eye for the luckless. It cannot forgive Providence for letting fools live.

RAIN HALTS MUNICIPAL OPERA Only First Act of "Student Prince"

Rain halted the performance of "The Student Prince" after the first act had been presented in the Municipal Theater last night. About 2500 persons were present. Last night's tickets will be honored at any other performance this week, if exchanged at the ticket office in the Arcade building.

"Meet-the-River" Trip Postponed. The "Meet-the-River" trip sponsored by the River Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which was to be held tomorrow to acquaint business men with river development work, has been indefinitely postponed because Maj. John C. Gotwals, U. S. Army engineer in charge of river work in the St. Louis area, has been called from the city.

THERE is no use trying to placate one of those tantalizing drunks with an imaginary grievance who continues querying: "You don't like me, do you?" At dinner last night a gentleman headed off a tormenting session with a frank: "No." And the stew departed.

NEW YORK is to see the dazingly speedy game jai-alai—called hi-li. It comes from the Basque country and is extremely popular in Mexico and now in Florida. Benny Leonard, the pugilist, will introduce it to Gotham. The game is played on a court against a background of black wall with a white ball that travels with the zip of a bullet. It is cast and caught in a sort of shovel basket tensed to the hands. It makes tennis look like a slow motion picture.

THE real reason for that staid institution—the Union League Club—moving from Thirty-ninth street and Fifth avenue to Park avenue was noise. From the street the club always had a sepulchral solemnity with wraith-like figures tiptoeing around. With my girlish bias for cutting up, I've always wanted to sail a feather through an open window, just to create a clatter and commotion.

AND after midnight in the shadows of the club I often notice a group of deaf mutes gossiping in sign language. There's thoughtful whatyoucudit for you!

of MacDonald's desire to visit America, which reached the White House last week, was disclosed yesterday as Edwin Price Bell, newspaper correspondent, who went to England to cover the recent elections.

At the same time, however, it was said that Bell is not acting in any way as a representative of President Hoover. Before sailing he visited the President at the executive offices. Their discussion did not touch the proposed MacDonald visit, it was said, and to this was added a vigorous denial that any suggestion of such a project had been made by Mr. Hoover.

It is understood here that MacDonald's idea of visiting President

Hoover may have arisen from a suggestion made by Bell in an interview with him or men prominent in the Labor Party.

Society in a Quandary.

Whatever the quandary among Washington officials and diplomats may be over the projected visit of MacDonald it has society leaders guessing as to how their plans for the summer might be affected.

The annual exodus to cooler climes already has begun, but plans of those who were counting on stays at Newport or along the Maine coast for the summer appeared to be well on the way to curtailment or possible abandonment.

Reports from London that MacDonald's trip was considered a certainty brought hasty changes in society's vacation plans.

MacDonald's Policy Toward Russia Depends on U. S. Attitude.

(Copyright, 1929.)

LONDON, June 13.—That Premier Ramsay MacDonald may delay re-establishment of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia until he has acquainted himself with the views at Washington which indicate the attitude of the United States is intimated by the foreign affairs correspondent of the Liberal Daily News.

"I am informed," he writes, "that the new Government has postponed a decision on the subject of resumption of relations with the Soviet until the Prime Minister's return from his visit to Mr. Hoover at Washington."

"The subject was carefully explored at the Cabinet meeting on the eve of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's departure for Scotland. The Ministers were divided on the question as to whether action should or should not be taken immediately. Mr. MacDonald believes that something considerable may be gained from postponement. He has continued consistently to declare his opinion that the problem of European disarmament can never be solved while Russia is kept aloof. He believes that the peace of the world is dependent on friendship and co-operation between Great Britain and the United States and he regards these as two parts of the same world problem."

"The United States refuses to recognize the Government of the Soviet and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald would not doubt like to acquaint himself with the views at Washington which dictate that attitude."

"It is possible to believe that out of their discussions of that general problem some modification of the American attitude towards Moscow might result."

PLANS FOR TRIPLE CITY AND COUNTY RULE SUGGESTED

where most of the people must find outdoor recreation, be developed. I've not a dilemma as between absolute annexation and annexation from a strip. If you take one, you get in one kind of trouble, if the other, another kind of trouble.

Federation Not an Easy Way.

"I've been in a sense a sort of apostle of the federation system. I have regarded it as one of the principal possibilities. There is a need for a new unit of government, made necessary by modern transportation; a need for a larger unit. I'm not going to advocate at this moment a federation here. I feel there are very great difficulties in the way of that. The most obvious reason is that there is so much unincorporated area with only the government of the county to control it. You couldn't create a federation very readily without a complete set of underlying units.

(One solution, of course, might be for Reed to advocate incorporation of large areas.)

"Federation is not to be proposed lightly as an easy way out of the difficulty. I want to get light and leading."

There is difficulty in determining the sentiment of the people, Reed pointed out. He was told that St. Louis was heavily in favor of annexing the county at the 1926 election, but the proposition lost in the county. He was told also that sentiment in the county is believed to have changed materially.

Taxes May Change Decision.

Reed remarked that the question of comparative taxes and the cost of sewer districts in the county may determine the success or failure of the future plan, regardless of the attitude politicians may take. He observed that the most determined opposition to annexation has been in communities having the highest tax rates.

After Hugh K. Wagner, a leading annexationist, described the career of the 1926 Board of Freeholders, which planned a merger, Reed declared that he wanted a "new deal" in the consideration of consolidation, saying: "We propose to proceed entirely de novo and ignore the limitations of the 1926 constitutional amendment; we want to approach the problem, not in the spirit of emotion, but of constructive thought."

Carter W. Atkins, director of the Bureau of Municipal Research, told the audience of some of the involved questions to be taken up in a consolidation. Mrs. Virgil Lock presided.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT

HOME WITH PANDA SKIN

Animal Shot in Indo-China
Jungles After Three Months' Search.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—The skin of a giant panda, a cross between a raccoon and a bear, was en route last today in the possession of Kermit Roosevelt, who shot the animal in the dense Indo-China jungles during the Roosevelt-Field Museum expedition.

Roosevelt arrived here yesterday on the President McKinley and told of a three months' hunting expedition before the long-sought panda was bagged. The rare beast was the central object of the expedition which set out from India last December.

"A panda is something like a cross between a raccoon and a bear," Roosevelt explained.
"The small panda is rather a common little beast, but there is no other specimen of a complete giant panda in the world."

"This creature which my brother, Theodore, and myself shot in the dense jungles of Indo-China, weighed about 300 pounds. He is a bear-like animal but scientists have still to determine whether he is of the same species. He has 42 teeth while the bear has only 40.
And the panda doesn't hibernate."
The Roosevelt and their party have been engaged in an expedition for the Roosevelt-Field Museum.
Kermit is en route to New York for business reasons, he said. Theodore remained with his party for another month's hunting near Sugon.

31 COMMUNISTS ON TRIAL IN INDIA FOR CONSPIRACY

They Are "Anti-Everything Decent," Says Prosecution in Opening Statement.

By the Associated Press. MEERUT, India, June 13.—Cries of "up with the revolution" and similar communist remarks were heard in court here yesterday when 31 communists, arrested last March in various parts of India, faced magisterial inquiry into their activity.

The communists are charged with attempting to deprive the King and Emperor of his sovereignty and replace the existing Government with the Moscow system.

Langford James, Calcutta attorney, in opening for the prosecution declared the case was not a nationalist conspiracy but an anti-nationalist movement which was definitely "anti-God, anti-family, anti-everything decent."

COUNTER-SUIT BY WIFE OF KIP RHINELANDER

Her Counsel Says Separation Action Filed Year Ago Will Be Pressed.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 13.—Counsel for Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander, daughter of a multi-millionaire, disclosed yesterday plans to press the separation action against her husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, who is said to be preparing a divorce suit in Las Vegas, Nev.

William B. Cunningham, one of her attorneys, said that for more than a year he and his partners had sought to serve Rhinelander with a summons in a separation action, but could not find him.

"It is likely," he said, "that, with Rhinelander's whereabouts disclosed, we shall go forward immediately with the separation action."

Cunningham said he and his law partners would decide today whether to defend the Nevada divorce suit. He pointed out a Nevada suit would be "utterly worthless" here.

Rhinelander, a member of one of New York's oldest families, started society in 1924 when his marriage became known. He is reported from Las Vegas to have lived in Nevada since Jan. 1 under an assumed name. The disclosure of his marriage, in 1924, was followed by a suit for annulment, in which he charged his wife concealed from him the fact that she was of Negro origin. Rhinelander lost the suit.

Gangster chief railroads love rival to prison!

District Attorney accuses Underworld Head of "framing" youth who stole his girl. Rivals now in Prison Death House together.

Prison walls fail to keep "Thunderbolt" Jim Lang from employing his terrific power over the underworld," District Attorney Calvert believes.

Calvert, in a recent statement, asserted that "Thunderbolt" utilized his gangsters to frame "Bob" Morgan, handsome bank clerk, who stole "Thunderbolt's" girl. By coincidence, young Morgan and "Thunderbolt" now occupy opposite cells in the Death House at the State prison. "Thunderbolt" has sworn revenge on Morgan . . . but if Morgan is pardoned . . . for the first time "Thunderbolt" will fail to "get" the man he was after.

MOTHER OF 12 GETS 18-MONTH SENTENCE

Takes Blame in Liquor Case, Leaves Husband to Care for Children.

By the Associated Press.
PORT SMITH, Ark., June 12.—Mrs. Joe Post, 59, mother of 12 children, 12 of whom are living, today faced a year and six months' sentence in Federal Prison and a $1000 fine as the result of pleading guilty to a liquor-selling charge. Mrs. Post accepted full responsibility for an alleged retail liquor business said to have been conducted on the Post farm, 20 miles north of here. As a result liquor law violation charges lodged against her husband were dropped. Federal court officials tonight said they had no record of previous liquor violations against Mrs. Post, who was sentenced by Judge Frank A. Youmans.

It was said that she accepted responsibility in the case that her husband might care for the children.

Cook Beaten by Customers.
When John Spencer, a cook, 3517 Delmar boulevard, told four young men who entered a restaurant at 321 Eastern avenue at 1 a. m. today that he did not have what they had ordered, he was set upon and severely beaten. He was treated at City Hospital for bruises and lacerations of the head and face.

ROCKEFELLER AID FOR MODEL HOUSING PLAN

$75,000,000 Fund Considered Available for New York Project.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 12.—John D. Rockefeller Jr. among whose many philanthropies Mayor Walker hopes will be the financing of the Christie-Forsythe Streets model housing project on which a public hearing will be held today by the board of Estimate, is understood to be ready to give it his support in whatever amount is needed from a fund of $75,000,000, which he considers available for such a purpose. A conference will be held between the Mayor and Raymond B. Fiedick, trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation and adviser to the philanthropist, at which a discussion of the model plan will be the chief consideration.

It is certain, however, that $75,000,000 is greatly in excess of the cost of the model dwellings to be constructed in the seven blocks between Canal and East Houston streets. One estimate has placed the cost at $1,000,000 for each block. The cost of acquiring the land by the city is estimated at $10,000,000.

The plan itself, for consideration State Railroad Commission, this would virtually nullify the inde-

of which the board called its special session, has been greatly enlarged, particularly for relief of traffic congestion on the lower East Side.

Instead of retaining the streets which Christie and Forsythe intersect at their present average width of 50 feet, it has been decided to widen them 25 feet on each side, making them 100-foot roadways or nearly squares at intersect ends. The streets affected are Hester, Grand, Broome, Rivington and Stanton, Delancey street, which also intersects, already is being widened under the name of Schiff Parkway.

ANTI-POWER TRUST BILLS PASSED BY WISCONSIN HOUSE

forced on the utilities in 1911 and would leave them also without the franchise arrangements under which they operate in most other states. This bill had been recom-

ended for indefinite postponement by the Judiciary Committee and was regarded as the least likely of all the group to pass.

Power District Plan Fails.
The other bill failing enough votes to be sent on to the Senate was the Reis power district bill, providing that more than one municipality may join together to form a power district. Besides the Reis resolution providing for a constitutional amendment to permit the State to go into the power business, the bills sent on to the Senate are the Carow resolution, providing for a constitutional amendment, under which cities acquiring a utility may borrow money against the utility instead of creating a debt against the entire municipality, and the Thayer bill requiring the Railroad Commission to consider two or more cities a regional unit in fixing rates for cities served by the same utility. The latter bill was not opposed by the utilities.

Assemblyman Prescott, Milwaukee Conservative floor leader, served notice of another fight on the bills with a motion to reconsider, but it is regarded as improbable that any of the bills will fail of passage in the Assembly. Back of the entire Assembly fight is a desire of the Progressives and Socialists to send the measure to the Conservative Senate. If the Senate kills them, the Progressives plan to make their defeat an issue in the next election against Gov. Kohler.

The utilities fight, which involves the most drastic industrial legislation program since the elder La Follette attacked the railroads 25 years ago, promises to be the most important political issue with the Progressives for the next two decades in Wisconsin. It was indicated by Assemblyman Reis, Progressive floor leader, in his arguments for the bills Wednesday. He characterized the debate as the beginning of a battle which might last a quarter of a century. "To defeat the greatest monopoly that has appeared in the history of the world"

Malicious Propaganda

No amount of malicious propaganda, an insult to public intelligence and good faith, can sway public belief in this fact: Lucky Strike is a blend of choice tobaccos whose toasted flavor thrills the taste, whose toasting process eliminates impurities, and, as 20,679* physicians testify, makes Luckies less irritating. Toasting elevates Lucky Strike to a plane of quality which no other cigarette can approach. The constant care of experts assures the quality of Luckies. Its choice by millions proves its superiority and is the truthful answer to selfish claims.

The sure way of making Your Sales Quota in St. Louis

(Branch Managers! Distributors! Manufacturers! This message concerns you, too!)

HAVE you ever stopped to consider how important it is to you, in making your sales quota, to have your firm's advertising placed in the Post-Dispatch instead of any other St. Louis Newspaper?

You don't need to be an advertising expert to know why. You already know your sales are made to dealers. You know you can't sell more to them until they sell more to the public.

So the whole question of increasing your sales depends on increasing consumer buying of what you sell to the dealer. That's why your firm should advertise in St. Louis and in the Post-Dispatch.

It is plainly evident that if your firm's advertising is placed in a newspaper that reaches more families than any other, it will sell more of your product.

And when the public buys more, the dealers buy more. And you are going to have an easier time making your sales quota.

That's why it is so important to you to realize the value of the tremendous excess circulation in St. Louis of the Post-Dispatch over any other newspaper.

In practically any major field of business, such as drug store items, grocery, hardware, clothing, automobile, etc., the volume of purchases made by the extra families reached by the Post-Dispatch amounts to millions of dollars annually. You can see, therefore, how important it is to you to know that—

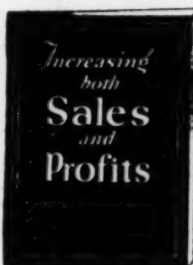

Your advertising will reach and sell far more families in St. Louis through the Post-Dispatch than through any other St. Louis Newspaper

Ask us to give you information on what this increased circulation means to you in your own selling and to the dealers who handle your product.

Send for Booklet, "Increasing Both Sales and Profits." This is not an advertising book, but a business discussion on the important principle of fast turn-over and how it affects your profits. If you would like to receive it, just mail the coupon or telephone Main 1111.

stock for his sister, 1000 for his wife and 1500 for a W. W. Tracy, who remained unidentified. Reviewing the transfer of his fortune from utilities to newspapers, Copley stated that he sold his complete control of the Illinois Utility holdings to E. H. Rollins & Sons, and A. E. Pitkin & Co., who were later bought out by the Insull group. In making the sale to Rollins and Pitkin, he was paid partly in cash and partly in securities of his old companies. He remained president of the Western United Corporation, the holding company, for two years. He stated, however, that he attended none of the board of directors' meetings and did not perform a single executive act. When Insull bought the companies, he resigned as president and director.

While still the nominal head of the holding company, he began to acquire newspapers in Illinois and California until he amassed 25. When the utility group propaganda became a subject for senatorial investigation, Senator Norris charged that Copley still retained his utility interests. To this Copley replied that he no longer had any interest in the utility industry.

Copley's personal representative, John Callan O'Loughlin and his attorney, Benjamin F. Alschuler, asked the Commission for an opportunity to reply to these charges. They testified that Copley still retained $5,000,000 worth of securities and Alschuler said that Copley's common stock holdings would permit him to place on the Board of Directors if he so desired.

These representatives intimated that Copley either had forgotten about his $5,000,000 holdings or did not consider them an interest. Copley today insisted that they were not an interest. In telling about his newspaper purchases, he stated that he had acquired the San Diego Union and Tribune, one of the papers in which he published a signed statement that he was no longer interested in the utility business.

Denies Interest in Utilities. "I stated then and I state now," he declared in the prepared memorandum, "that at that time I had no interest in any public utility. I could not under any circumstances have determined any act or any policy of any utility company. I had not even attended a directors' meeting since the sale on Jan. 25, 1924. I had not even discussed the policy of the company with any of the men who owned or were directors of the company. I had been negotiating for months for the sale of those securities, as I was going to need the money to care for the required payments on my newspaper purchases. I was transferring my personal fortune from utilities to newspapers."

"The word 'interest' when used in that quoted newspaper statement was used absolutely in its literal sense. I had already negotiated the sale of a very large portion of my holdings in utility stocks in order to furnish the money to discharge the contracts for the purchase of newspapers. I did not have time to carry out all those because of engagements. Those contracts amounted to several million dollars, more than could be realized from the Copley press bonds. I had therefore, necessarily, to take time that I might receive a fair price for my utility securities."

Admits $5,000,000 in Bonds. Cross-questioned by Healy, Copley stated that at the time of the statement, he held something more than $5,000,000 more worth of utility securities for himself and more than $1,000,000 for his wife, sister and the Mr. Tracy.

Copley's explanation of this was that at the time, he had an oral agreement with his broker to sell the stock, that he had not needed the money immediately and that he went to Europe. When he returned, he continued the deferred payments when due and he instructed his brokers to find immediate purchasers. He submitted to the commission the date of sale of these securities. The actual sale started in October, 1928, and all negotiations were not completed until March, 1929.

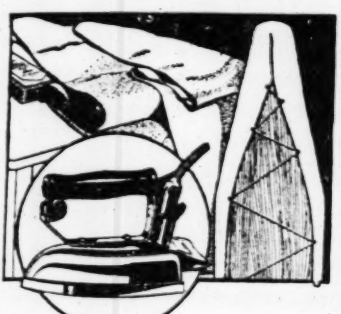

Questioned as to the policies of his newspapers on the power question, Copley insisted that the only instructions he had given his editors were that they should be fair. He stated that the advertising and news columns of his papers were open both to advocates of government ownership and private ownership of utilities.

In several instances, he was unable to identify articles appearing in his newspapers. He explained that the owner of so many newspapers could not be expected to read them all. Healy was not prepared with exhibits to show that the Copley papers had consistently favored private against public ownership of utilities.

Copley also denied the previous testimony of his representatives, O'Loughlin and Alschuler, that his stock holdings entitled him to a directorship of the Western United Corporation. He declared that he could not have been elected to that position if the Insulls had opposed. His explanation was that the charter of the company gave the Insulls, through their control of the class B stock, a virtual veto power. By questioning, Healy elicited the fact that this would have cost the Insulls more than $3,000,000 or that a reorganization of the capital structure of the company would have been necessary.

Healy also pointed out that Copley had previously testified that Samuel Insull had asked him to remain as a director of the company. Copley was emphatic that he could not have been elected without the Insull approval. He expressed great chagrin that O'Loughlin and Alschuler had testified before the commission without his approval.

The Search for Walter Brown, His Capture and His Many Daring Attempts to Escape the Law.

HANDS UP!

By JOHN KNOX.

The Story of a Gang With Magnificent Aspirations—Gun Play and Thrills in the Pennsylvania Mountains.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S CHAPTER

—Charles Puig had raised a Letter of Credit issued by a Jerusalem bank from two hundred to two thousand pounds. Among others, he victimized the Singapore and Hong Kong offices of the American Express Company. When the forgery is discovered, it is found that no record of Puig could be found on the books of steamship lines, railroads or hotels in the territory through which he had traveled for several thousand miles. Express detectives discover that the fugitive is Walter Brown, an old offender who has served a sentence in France for tampering with the Company's paper in Paris. It is discovered that he used three names in his Asiatic operations, one at banks and express offices, one at hotels and the third in traveling. He is discovered to be on board a Japanese ship sailing for Valparaiso, Chile. Arrested at Valparaiso, he escapes. Recaptured, he escapes again. He is finally caught at the foot of the statue of the Andean Christ, just as he is about to cross the border into Argentina. His captor, Carabineer Ramon Tapia, refuses a bribe and brings the prisoner to his command.

RAMON TAPIA had done what the full forces of international police had not been able to do. He captured Walter Brown and held him.

Walter Brown had penetrated the law's defense to the very last line, that last line held. That is the reason why every criminal eventually learns. No matter how resourceful he may be, the social organization of the world eventually long way from express offices in Singapore and Hongkong to a border guard on the crest of the Andes, just as it is a long way from Jerusalem to the Christ of the Andes, but all are bound together by the common network of civilization—and the man who attacks civilization must pay the price of his temerity.

That was Brown's last escape in Chile. The vigilant pressure of the British Minister by which Caracac company, added to the power of an aroused public opinion in Chile, kept him securely in jail until he went before a court for a hearing on the extradition warrant.

The prisoner Caracac, criminal lawyer, who invoked every delay which is the common curse of law enforcement throughout the world. The express company promptly employed another attorney to re-Weekee ran into months; postponement, delay and appeal followed one another in the slow succession which is characteristic of the machinery of law. Six months went by in legal skirmishing before Brown was finally deported to Hong Kong to stand trial there.

He left Valparaiso on the Japanese ship "Rakuyo Maru," on Sept. 22, 1927, guarded by two Chilean Carabineers. The express company paid a reward to Lieut. Alvear, which the latter insisted on dividing with Ramon Tapia, the private soldier who had resisted temptation. Brown's once smooth exterior had faded sadly. He had allowed his beard to grow and he looked 20 years older than the handsome tourist who had purchased the Letter of Credit in Jerusalem a little over a year before. The relentless pressure of his victims had also submerged his usual buoyancy of disposition. He was depressed and had little to say to his guards. The chronic disease from which he suffered had made serious inroads on his health and there was little ground for cheerfulness in his future.

Daily he was allowed two hours of exercise on the deck, always under the close watchfulness of the Chilean guards. He paced up and down, drawing in his daily ration of sea air and docilely returned to his cabin when his time was up.

One of his exercise periods came while the ship was pulling slowly out of the harbor of Callao, Peru. Walking to the rail he watched the attention of his guards to the swarm of sharks which clustered around the shipping, shuddering realistically at the thought of what might happen to anyone who fell among the man-eaters. He leaned over the rail to watch the sail-like fins cutting the water, the guards looking on with tolerant smiles.

Suddenly the prisoner vaulted over the rail into the sea.

A Swim for Freedom That Failed

HE struck out for an anchored British merchant ship with powerful strokes and was 100 yards on his way before his guards could extricate themselves from the jam of excited passengers at the rail. The Japanese liner stopped and sailors tumbled into a lifeboat. One of the Chileans rested his rifle on the rail and fired four shots at the swimming fugitive. The fourth bullet whistled off Brown's cap just as the lifeboat drew alongside him. There was a short struggle and then a brawny Japanese boatman, a bathos at Brown's collar and hauled him into the lifeboat.

The prisoner readily admitted that he had planned to reach the British tramp and plead to his Captain that he was a British citizen who was being kidnapped, throwing himself on the sailor's mercy. He relied upon his gift of plausible and convincing speech to enlist the captain's aid.

The express company took no more chances with a possible escape. At every port at which the "Rakuyo Maru" stopped a representative of the company came aboard, interviewed the prisoner and reinforced the guards until the ship sailed again. Each of those "inspectors" wired to New York headquarters reporting the safety and the condition of the prisoner.

This situation at the Court. His counsel made an eloquent plea for his client, quoting a fictitious law record and entering an unsupported plea of insanity as extenuating circumstances. The Court imposed a sentence of three years in the Hongkong jail. For climatic and other reasons, prison life in Hongkong is very trying for a European and the sentence is regarded as a very severe one. As these lines are written, Walter Brown is still in the Hongkong jail.

press company. No matter how often he escaped or where he took refuge, they would have captured him in the end.

Proceeding on their principle that no man who robs it must be allowed to escape punishment, the express company spent over $25,000 in the pursuit and capture of Walter Brown. The company was satisfied with the sentence of the Hong Kong court. A very able criminal who was a menace to their international financial business was removed from their activities. They pursued their man half-way around

A Phone Call and What Came of It

"CALL for you, Charlie." He shook the wet snow off his hat and read the slip of paper the hotel clerk had just handed to him. His forehead puckered in an effort to remember the unfamiliar telephone number, but he was tired and the thing didn't seem worth any mental effort. A stock salesman, or somebody of the sort, he decided, and tossed the slip of paper into a wastebasket. If the fellow wanted him he could call again and tell who he was.

A dark-featured man who had been idling in the lobby of the little hotel slipped quietly out the door. Charles Marston (that isn't his real name, but there are reasons for avoiding that, plodded wearily up to his room. The day's run from Pittsburgh had been a hard one. A cold wind had whooped into the express car at every stop and there had been an unusual number of heavy packages to handle. The walk from the station in the ankle-deep snow had been depressing. He wanted to get into a warm room from which he could look out the world while he rested.

He was just hanging up his damp overcoat when his room telephone rang. With a groan of disgust, Marston took the receiver off the hook, expecting to hear the voice of his superintendent; a tough night to make an extra run, if that was what it was.

A Chance for Some "Easy" Money

MARSTON considered swiftly. An express messenger had to be careful, but that was no reason that he couldn't be as human as other people when he was off duty. It would do no harm to see what this was about.

"All right, I'll be there," he agreed.

"Okay," said the voice. "Good-bye until then."

There was a click and the phone went dead.

Marston hung up the receiver thoughtfully. He wondered how the stranger had learned his need for money; he had tried to keep that need to himself. For a man holding a position of trust to let his need of money be known was not the part of wisdom. If anything happened, no matter how innocent he might be, the first suspicion would be naturally point to the man who had advertised that he had a motive for theft.

Charles Marston was not a thief. There wasn't a dishonest fiber in his mind or body—but he was one of the reasons Marston was in the position of trust to let his need of money be known was not the part of wisdom. If anything happened, no matter how innocent he might be, the first suspicion would be naturally point to the man who had advertised that he had a motive for theft.

This girl didn't demand jewels or extravagant entertainments. Marston loved her. The principal reason he loved her was one over which he had no control: people in love never can analyze the reasons they are in love.

Charles Marston wanted to start married life with a home of his own. He wanted to take his bride to the shelter of a roof that should be theirs without the uncertainty of a landlord—and that would take money. More money the world as a matter of course and brought him back as far to stand trial and take the punishment for his offenses.

The case of Walter Brown illustrates the development in detective methods since the days of the Calumet and Hecla payroll kidnap of 40 years ago.

So much for the international chase of Walter Brown. He is now the story of a gang with magnificent aspirations, which they almost achieved—a story of sun-play and detective skill in the Pennsylvania mountains.

Charles Marston was not a thief. There wasn't a dishonest fiber in his mind or body—but he was one of the reasons Marston was in the position of trust to let his need of money be known was not the part of wisdom. If anything happened, no matter how innocent he might be, the first suspicion would be naturally point to the man who had advertised that he had a motive for theft.

This girl didn't demand jewels or extravagant entertainments. Marston loved her. The principal reason he loved her was one over which he had no control: people in love never can analyze the reasons they are in love.

Charles Marston wanted to start married life with a home of his own. He wanted to take his bride to the shelter of a roof that should be theirs without the uncertainty of a landlord—and that would take money. More money knowledge of his identity cheerfully. "Yes, I'm Marston," he said. "What did you want to talk to me about?"

The stranger smiled and touched the messenger's arm invitingly. "I'm told," he said, invitingly. Let's go somewhere and get a cup of coffee."

N EITHER spoke again until they faced each other across a white enameled table in an all-night restaurant. When the waiter had taken their orders the dark man leaned forward.

"You want to buy a house," he said quickly. It was not a question but a statement.

Marston stiffened slightly. He hoped that his face didn't give him away. Two or three answers came into his mind but he decided to say nothing. He would let the stranger do all the talking.

"Like to live in Braddock?" Inquired the stranger, apparently not noticing the messenger's silence. Marston permitted himself a nod of assent. He was overflowing with questions, but he clung to his resolution to let the stranger carry the burden of the conversation.

"The girl you're going to marry—some girl she is too—liked a house she saw over there the other day," the stranger continued. "Eight rooms and a good yard—almost new. Did she say anything to you about it?"

Marston yielded his reticence enough to answer this question. This was getting on familiar ground and he felt safer.

Clothing and Skin

Damaged by Smoke
A NOTHER group has been found to buttress the forces aligned against the smoke pills which hang over most cities.

Laura S. Caudle, chairman of the national conference board on sanitation, says the smoke damages the clothing and "contaminations of the feminine sex. She traces certain skin ailments to the smoke and quotes Osborn Monnett of the department of the interior to the effect that it is conducive to a depressed mental outlook.

thoughtfully for a minute and then apparently came to a decision. "Could you buy the house at exactly half the price it was offered to your girl for?" he asked quietly.

Marston stiffened again, all his suspicion revived. "I'd have to take a thorough look at the place," he said uneasily. The stranger smiled again.

"There's nothing the matter with the house," he said. "Could you use it at that price?"

Marston answered shortly—almost angrily. "Of course I could," he said. "But what's the idea?"

The dark man smiled slowly. "How would you like to have it for nothing?" he asked softly—and a hundred thousand dollars in cash besides?"

A Quicker Breakfast

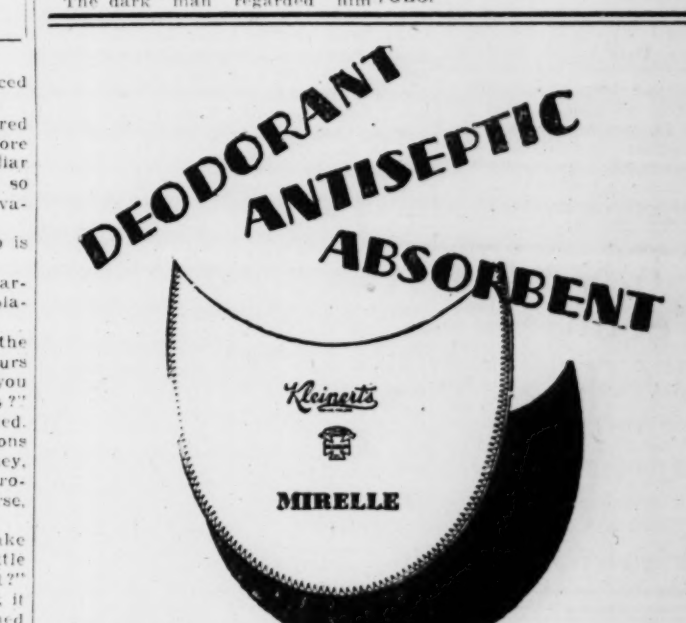

One housewife cuts the bread for toast the night before and puts it in the toasting rack until morning. It dries out enough by morning to toast quickly and nicely. Time is gained at this hurried meal.

Heavy Profit-Taking Impedes Resumption of the Upward Movement—Utilities Lead Trade.

ANOTHER LATE SPURT IN THE STEEL SHARES

Brooklyn Edison Up 35 Points to 340, Duplicating Year's High—Call Money at 7 Per Cent.

By The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 14.—Heavy week-end profit taking imparted considerable irregularity to price movements on the New York Stock Exchange today, but major speculative operations were again on the up-side.
Violent advances again took place in a few of the public utility shares. Brooklyn Edison ranged up 35 points to 340, duplicating the year's high, while Commonwealth Power ran up 20 points to a new high record at 238, and closed at the top.
Another late spurt took place in the steel shares, but not all the gains were maintained. United States Steel common ran up to 177 1/2 and then eased to 175 1/2, up 2 points net, but Michigan Steel jumped 7 1/2 points to a new peak at 107 1/2.
Call money held steady at 7 per cent all day, but the temporary accumulation of funds here in preparation for mid-month payments was so large that the rate in the outside market was reduced to 6 1/2 in an apparent effort to find temporary employment for some of these surplus funds over the week-end.
Norfolk & Western, moving up 4 1/2 points to a new high at 218 1/2, was the late feature in the rail group.
Montgomery-Ward fell from an early high of 118 to 112, up 1/2 net, on the traditional "selling on the good news" following the announcement of valuable stock purchase "rights" to shareholders. Auburn Auto fluctuated in a violent manner, moving up 4 1/2 points to a new high at 297 1/2, breaking to 275 and then rebounding to 285 for a net loss of 6 points. Allis Chalmers dropped 6 points, and General Electric, closed a point lower at 297 after having touched a new high at 301 1/2.
Futures prices advanced fractionally on bullish new reports. Cotton dropped 50 cents to nearly 11 a bale.
Record Individual Sales.
Furious trading in the public utilities advanced prices today carried the volume of sales to 2,616,500 shares on the curb market. Slightly under the record for the year. Interest in power stocks was fanned by merger plans of J. P. Morgan & Co. Interests and new highs were established by stocks of practically all companies with this house.
Commonwealth & Southern, new holding company, formed by Morgan and Bonbright, established a record for day's trading in any single issue on any exchange with 1,022,400 shares being turned over in the five-hour session. The price range, however, was narrow, closing at 25 after opening at 24 and selling down to 23 1/2.
Retention of the 5 per cent discount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank, coupled with the fact there was no change in the outstanding volume of brokers' loans last week, had a cheerful effect on speculative sentiment. Defeat of the debenture plan by the House of Representatives also was construed as a bullish factor.
The significant development in the day's money market was the further relaxation in time money rates, with loans for all maturities reported quoted at 5 per cent. A fair volume of money was reported placed on that basis for the 90-day period, with business done on other maturities.
Closing stock prices with other tables and market news, will be found on pages 53, 54 and 57.
